The new weather station atop the lofty building will provide a storm detection range of 285 miles—more than double that of the previous location on Manhattan's Battery tip.

Military Court in Cuba Dooms 3 Men

Sends 12 Others to Prisons For Crimes Against State

Santiago, Cuba—A Cuban military tribunal today sentenced insurgent ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices to death for crimes against the state.

Ordered executed with Beaton were his brother, Cipriano, and Felipe Martinez.

Another member of Beaton's mountain band, which opposed Castro for months, was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment. Three others were sentenced to 20 years. One was sentenced to five years and seven were sentenced to serve reformatory sentences until they reached maturity. One was acquitted.

Appeal Death Sentences

The Beaton brothers and Martinez appealed their death sentences, which are now subject to review by a special higher tribunal.

Beaton, a former captain in Fidel Castro's forces, escaped from La Cabana prison in Havana some time ago and headed for the hills. He had been held for the slaying of another Castro officer, but declared he was charged with the killing only as a scapegoat for others.

Beaton and 14 followers were captured by a peasant patrol in the Oriente province mountains last Friday. At times, Castro took part in the 2-month chase.

Accused of Treason

Beaton was charged with treason, sedition and murder. He denied he had led a revolt against the Castro regime. He told the 5-man court-martial that the band he was leading in the Sierra Maestra was an expeditionary force he formed to attack the Dominican Republic, whose government is critical of Castro.

Cipriano Beaton and Martinez testified that they had killed a peasant leader, Francisco Tomayo, last April. Manuel Beaton said he had no part in that.

Delay Surgery When Patient Expects Death, Psychiatrist Says

Miami Beach, Fla.—When a patient about to undergo surgery tells his doctor he knows he's going to die, what does the doctor do?

Many doctors put off the operation if they have a choice, until the patient's feelings improve, a Marquette university psychiatrist said today.

Some evidence indicates a link between the mental and emotional state of the patient and surgical death. Dr. Eugene S. Turrell of Milwaukee told the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

Sen. Kennedy Hits 'Obsolete Policies'

Russia Says U. S. Rejects Arms Proposal

Zorin Declares France Largely in Favor of Plan

Geneva—The Soviet Union charged today that the United States has virtually rejected the new Soviet disarmament plan, while France is largely in favor of it.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the 10-nation disarmament conference that "on some points the French position is almost identical with Soviet views."

In an 80-minute speech, Zorin launched a sharp attack against American and West German "aggressive militarism" and contrasted this with what he termed the desire of the French government to reach agreement on disarmament.

French Delegate Jules Moch told Zorin yesterday that Soviet adoption of some earlier French proposals could never lead to a breach in the west's solidarity in disarmament negotiations with Russia.

Moch reasserted today that the west would not accept a disarmament treaty unless adequate control machinery is worked out beforehand. He said the western position on this point is "constant and firm, and the Soviet delegation must realize it cannot be modified."

Court Tells EAL Pilots to Return

Miami—Federal Judge Joseph Lieb ordered Eastern Air Lines' striking pilots back to work today. He told them they must fly even with federal inspectors in the seats behind them.

Edmund P. Rordam, regional vice president of the air line pilots association here, said he does not know what effect this order will have.

3 Held in New Mexico

Seized After Crashing Through 2 Roadblocks

Albuquerque, N. M.—Two Chicago men sought in connection with robberies and a kidnapping in Illinois and Wisconsin are in custody of the FBI here.

Police said Ray Hamilton, 24, Alvin Sherman, 20, and a woman companion were tracked down by airplane and arrested Sunday on a ranch near Moriarty, N.M., after crashing through two state police roadblocks. They were held without charge.

The Chicago FBI said it had warrants accusing Sherman and Hamilton of unlawful flight to Albuquerque to avoid prosecution for armed robbery.

Robbery in Wisconsin The pair, along with James Blaha, were wanted in connection with the robbery of an Army-Navy surplus store in Fontana, Wis., the FBI said, adding that in the course of their escape they kidnapped and slugged Lakewood Police Chief Edward O'Neill in Lake County, Ill., and stole two cars.

The men also were accused of holding a Barrington, Ill., couple at gunpoint in the couple's car and driving into Chicago after leaving O'Neill behind in his car. Blaha is still at large.

"It was just a wild, crazy stunt," Hamilton told newsmen Monday. "I don't know what started it, but we didn't hurt anybody, and we planned to turn ourselves in."

The woman companion was identified as Mrs. Doris Parish of Los Angeles, who told police she was out on parole from a San Pedro, Calif., woman's prison.

U. S. Efforts at Summit Would Have Failed if Khrushchev Hadn't Wrecked Talks, He Says

Washington—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today that if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev hadn't wrecked the summit conference it would have foundered on what he called obsolete U. S. policies.

Kennedy, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that if the presidential campaign turns on the issue of who best can stand up to Khrushchev, the American people will lose, no matter who wins in November.

His senate speech coupled a series of foreign policy suggestions of his own with a slashing attack on President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable GOP presidential nominee.

It obviously was intended to reply to his Republican critics and to counter implications by some supporters of rival Democratic presidential aspirants that Kennedy, at 43, is too youthful and inexperienced to negotiate with Khrushchev on vital problems.

Kennedy said the American delegation headed by Eisenhower went to the Paris summit meeting with "no fresh ideas" and only "obsolete policies and meaningless slogans."

Not Prepared

"Our conferees have consistently gone to the international bargaining table ill-advised," he said. "Coordinate efforts—with all agencies and all allies—have faltered without strong direction from the top; and strong direction from the top has often faltered because the president has not been kept fully informed."

Because of this, the Massachusetts senator said it was "fortunate that the violent

Flier Writes to Wife

Pilot Held in Russia Gets Good Treatment

BY ROSS HAGEN

Milledgeville, Ga.—The wife of an American flier imprisoned in Russia on spy charges said today he was being treated well.

Mrs. Barbara Gay Powers, 25, said she received the letter May 31 from Francis Gary Powers, 30, in regular mail. It was postmarked May 26 in Moscow.

Dr. James Baugh, Mrs. Powers' physician, read her statement at a news conference at Milledgeville where she is staying at the home of her mother, Mrs. Monteen Brown.

Mrs. Powers was not present at the conference. The letter itself was not made public and Baugh read Mrs. Powers' statement on her impressions of it.

The statement said in part:

"The letter originated in Moscow and was dated May 26. The letter was written in Gary's handwriting and did not appear to be restrained. He described his first sensation of coming down in a parachute, landing and receiving a minor skin wound on the face. "He was taken into custody. A lady physician treated his wound."

"A few days later his appetite returned. He is getting plenty of food and is being treated well."

"A few days after his capture he was taken on a tour of Moscow and shown the remains of his plane. He described Moscow as a beautiful city."

"In prison he has books to read and he knew of my returning home from Turkey. The prison room has a yard where he gets sunshine."

"My husband has no idea of his ultimate fate. They have told him he will be tried in accordance with act two of the Soviet code for espionage. Conviction carries a sentence of seven years to death."

"I am hopeful that my husband will be returned soon. I am constantly praying that Premier Khrushchev will reunite us as he has in other cases."

Jap Troops May Help in Guarding Ike

Told to be Ready To Back Police if Violence Develops

BY GENE KRAMER

Tokyo—Japanese security officials are alerting troops of Japan's new army to back up police in case violence flares during President Eisenhower's visit.

A defense board spokesman said a 2,000-man regiment had been placed on alert and a division of 15,000 stationed in Tokyo could be rushed up if the situation warranted. The troops will be held at their bases in case the call comes.

The spokesman stressed that responsibility for guarding Eisenhower rests with a 25,000-man police force to be mobilized against leftist demonstrations expected when Eisenhower arrives Sunday.

Police Make Raids

Violence meanwhile accompanied police raids on union and student headquarters in search of leader of Friday's communist-sparked mob attack against White House Press Sec. James C. Hagerty's car.

In a series of pre-dawn raids, police rounded up five officials of a leftist labor union and seized evidence after searching a factory in Kawasaki, south of the capital, and headquarters of the Zengakuren Student Federation on two Tokyo campuses.

Zengakuren students tried to repel the police with rocks and staves. Eleven policemen were reported injured, but no students were arrested.

Major non-communist leftist organizations were reported considering abandoning plans for a large-scale demonstration at the airport, although it appeared likely they would demonstrate elsewhere during the president's visit against the U.S.-Japan security treaty and prime minister Nobusuke Kishi's government.

Truce Rumored

There were reports of a possible truce between Kishi's beleaguered government and its socialist opposition to take the heat off Eisenhower's visit.

Kishi's liberal democratic party was reported considering recessing parliament for three to five days. If it remains in session, the security treaty is automatically ratified on Sunday, the day Eisenhower arrives. The socialists want parliament dissolved, automatically nullifying ratification of the treaty, so an election campaign can be fought with the treaty as the main issue.

A top security official said if the socialists decide not to demonstrate against the president's arrival, the police will have no great problem in guarding him. He said they then would have to contend only with "a maximum of 7,000 communists and pro-communists including 3,000 students."

Reynolds Tries To Block Natural Gas Price Boost

Madison—Atty. Gen. John Reynolds took steps today to block federal power commission action on a Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline company request for increases in its natural gas rates.

Reynolds said approval of the request would cost Wisconsin consumers an additional $4,269,281 a year.

The attorney general described the requested increase as "over and above other requested increases not yet approved by the FPC."

"Michigan-Wisconsin is attempting to invoke in this case the application of contract provisions relating to periodic increases, a so-called spiral escalation," Reynolds said.

"We have repeatedly argued to the FPC and before the appropriate courts that such provisions are wholly invalid and void," he added.

Crowd Goes Out Of Control at Times

BY JOHN SCALI

Manila—A joyous, singing, almost uncontrollable mass of Filipinos today nearly overwhelmed President Eisenhower with an ecstatic welcome.

This land which the United States set free only 14 years ago gave Eisenhower perhaps the greatest tribute he has ever received overseas. A million and a half or more roared their acclaim along a flag-bedecked route, showering Eisenhower with a near blizzard of pastel confetti and even paper boxes.

The crowd rivaled the nearly hysterical turnout of Indians who welcomed Eisenhower to New Delhi last December.

Sometimes surging out of control, the tide of humanity slowed his parade to a walk as they jammed to within inches of the open car. He rode beside Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia from the airport to downtown Manila, 10 miles.

Acrid fumes from the slow-moving cars occasionally brought tears to Eisenhower's eyes. Filipino and American security agents strained to clear a path in humid 85-degree heat. One over-enthusiastic well-wisher tried to climb on the hood of the automobile before police hustled him away.

U. E. Baughman, head of the U. S. secret service, estimated the crowd at 1½ to 2 million. The Philippine press secretary, Jose P. Nable, said police and military officials set the total at three million—1½ million in Manila alone.

Record Welcome

Dripping with perspiration, Eisenhower flashed his famous grin at the crowds. They smiled and waved back at him with affection for a hometown boy made good—the young army officer who served here in the '30s and later became president. The display was unequaled in the islands' history.

President Garcia—despite political pressures that sometimes make it expedient to strike an unfriendly pose toward America—was unstinting in his praise of Eisenhower and the United States as

Boy Refuses To Accept Legion Award

Westbury, N. Y.—A 17-year-old high school honor student was the center of a community uproar today because of his refusal to accept a citizenship award from the local American Legion post.

The youth, Stephen Bayne, said he rejected the award because he cannot respect legion policies. He did not, however, outline his feelings in greater detail.

Young Bayne shocked an audience of nearly 1,000 classmates, parents, school officials and others during senior awards night ceremonies last Friday in this Long Island community.

When the local legion post's Americanism chairman announced that the boy would receive a gold pin as a citizenship award, the student—who is president of the school's student organization—quickly arose and said:

"Wait! I refuse to accept an award from an organization whose policies I can't respect."

Committee Approves Omnibus Housing Bill

Washington—The senate banking committee today approved a $1,381,500,000 omnibus housing bill after cutting out $200 million.

The cuts eliminated some features objectionable to the Eisenhower administration but still left the measure far beyond what the president recommended.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), housing subcommittee chairman, said he believed a good bill has been worked out and that it should be ready for senate action soon.

Policeman Dies In Pistol Duel

New York City Has Fourth Outbreak of Gunfire in 12 Hours

New York—A policeman was killed in a pistol duel with an alleged holdup man early today in the fourth outbreak of gunfire in the city in 12 hours.

Police investigating robberies were involved in each case. They killed one man and wounded three.

Patrolman William Ramos, 28, was slain in a duel with Nathan Jackson, 24, outside a hotel in a Negro section of Brooklyn.

Police said Jackson, a Negro, and a woman had stolen $60 in the hotel and that Ramos surprised them as they were leaving. Ramos and Jackson each was shot three times.

Jackson was in critical condition. The woman fled.

Other Incidents

Patrolman William Cullen shot and killed James J. McLoughlin, 37, a former convict in the alleged act of holding up the Mont St. Michel restaurant near Central park yesterday. McLoughlin was a former convict.

Robert M. Kestel, 31, another former convict, was shot and critically wounded as he entered a Times square subway station. Police wanting him in a $1,500 apartment house holdup three weeks ago, discovered him in a restaurant. As he fled toward the subway, police fired a warning shot and then Detective Edward Burban fired a shot that hit him.

Lorenzo Valentin, 35, proprietor of a Bronx neighborhood bar, was shot in the chin by a policeman in a chase after he had reported a $170 robbery in his place.

Plane With 12 Aboard Overdue

Seattle—A Pacific Northern airlines passenger plane with about 12 persons aboard is overdue on a flight from Cordova to Anchorage, Alaska, the airline reported today.

The 4-engine Constellation left Cordova at 6:16 a.m. and was due in Anchorage about an hour later.

PNA headquarters here said it had no report of trouble from the pilot, and was merely listing the plane overdue.

Wind Change to Bring Some Scattered Clouds

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy and little change in temperature tonight and Wednesday. Lowest temperature tonight near 50 and the high Wednesday near 78. Light and variable winds becoming southerly on Wednesday.

Seeks Rejection of Antarctic Treaty

Dangerous to U.S., Allies Says Senator

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington—(AP)—Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) charged today the Antarctic treaty with Soviet Russia and 10 other nations poses "a danger to the security of the United States" and its allies.

Engle, asking its rejection, said the treaty would settle "the seal of free world recognition on the Soviet presence in Antarctica in return for whatever assurance the treaty offers that the Soviets will not be trouble makers."

The treaty, signed in Washington last December, provides that Antarctica shall be developed and used only for peaceful purposes. It recognizes no territorial claims by any individual nation.

In addition to the United States and Russia, countries signing the treaty are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, France, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa and Britain.

Alaskan Opposition
Engle spoke out against the treaty in testimony prepared for the senate foreign relations committee. Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska) also was listed as an opposition witness.

Engle said that for the United States to give up sovereign rights it has earned over the years in Antarctica "would be as great a folly as it would have been many years ago to forego purchase of Alaska."

He added:

"The treaty will give the Soviet Union a position of equality which it does not deserve, and which poses a danger to the security of our allies in the southern hemisphere."

Started By U. S.
Initiated by the United States, the treaty prohibits establishment of military bases in Antarctica, provides for freedom of scientific research and cooperation and bans nuclear explosions and the dumping of radioactive waste there pending conclusion of international agreements on nuclear uses.

In submitting it to congress, President Eisenhower called it "a significant advance toward the goal of a peaceful world with justice."

Engle said it would demilitarize the continent and ban nuclear explosions just as it was necessary to firmly bind Russia had already concluded disarmament and nuclear test ban agreements with the free world.

Johnson Forces In Texas Work To Back Senator

State GOP Delegates Also Meet at Biggest Convention in Years

BY DAVE CHEAVENS

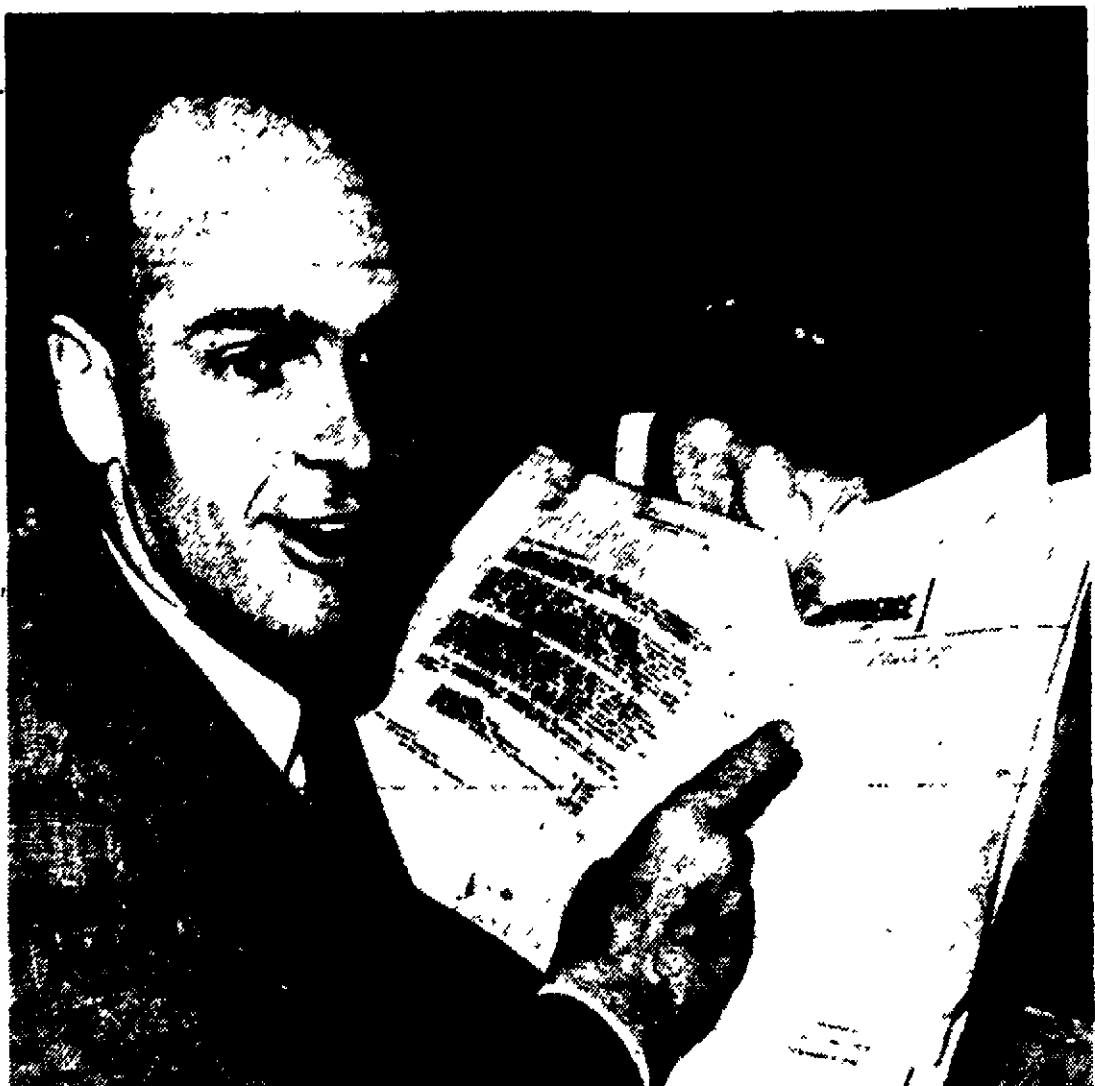

Austin, Texas —(AP)—Texas Democrats convened today to put on the best possible united front for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's campaign for the presidential nomination.

A rump convention of liberal dissidents could organize to send a rival delegation to claim Texas' 61 votes in the national convention at Los Angeles.

Under steady pressure from the Johnson forces, there were signs that the opposition was weakening. There was a possibility that labor would get on the Johnson side before the convention voting starts.

But a hard core of followers of National Committee President Eisenhower called it "a significant advance toward the goal of a peaceful world with justice."

Engle said it would demilitarize the continent and ban nuclear explosions just as it was necessary to firmly bind Russia had already concluded disarmament and nuclear test ban agreements with the free world.

Sen. William Proxmire poses in his capitol office with references he used in making a senate speech Monday accusing the state department of improperly buying $89,400 worth of office furniture.

State Department to Answer Sen. Proxmire

Promises 'Detailed Refutation' Of Charges in Furniture Purchase

Washington —(AP)—The state department promised today what it called "a detailed refutation" of charges by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) that it was guilty of serious irregularities in buying furniture.

Proxmire told the senate Monday that a firm headed by the son of Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller had received nine contracts totalling $89,400 for furniture for embassies abroad.

"Not one of the contracts was awarded on the basis of competitive bids," Proxmire said.

He particularly criticized the purchase of more than $69,000 of furniture for the U.S. embassy in Caracas, Venezuela and the shipment of most of it there by plane at an added cost of $30,000.

He rejected as unsatisfactory the state department's explanation that the decision to ship by plane was made because of longshoreman's strike. He said the strike ended last Oct. 9 and the embassy wasn't ready for occupancy until Nov. 1.

Recalls Speech
Proxmire recalled that in a Wisconsin speech last November, Secretary Mueller declared "we shall continue to expose and . . . strike down every spendthrift claw reaching for the taxpayer's pocket."

Proxmire said he knew of no financial interest Mueller had in the son's business, adding that Mueller had severed his connections with furniture manufacturing when he came to Washington in 1955.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., the secretary's son, Frederick E. Mueller, said that Proxmire was playing partisan politics with half-facts and innuendos.

He said his firm, Mueller Metals corporation had done business with the state department for years before his father became secretary of commerce. He added that the Caracas transaction followed standard practices and was not extravagant.

Milwaukeean Sets Own Heartbeat

Milwaukee —(AP)—A 38-year-old Milwaukee engineer sets his own heartbeat by an electronic Pacemaker.

Carl Barker, a project engineer, explained today how he has obtained a new lease on life with the aid of the electronic gadget installed in January by a team of University of Minnesota surgeons.

Barker, father of four, said he had suffered several heart attacks and his heart beat slowed down to about 20 beats per minute. The attacks finally forced him to quit work last fall.

He heard about the Pacemaker developed at Minnesota and went there to consult Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, famed for his "open heart" surgery.

The Minnesota engineers and surgeons developed a Pacemaker for Barker and he was able to return to work this spring.

The Pacemaker he uses is a transistorized package that has an 8-inch special steel wire leading from it through Barker's chest to the heart where it is attached in two places to the ventricular muscle.

With a simple dial, Barker regulates the repetitive electrical stimuli to cause his heart beat at the rate of 80 to 85 beats per minute during the day. At night he slows his heart beat down to about 60 beats per minute. He experiences no feeling from these small electrical shocks but keeps tab on his heart by means of a flashing light on the Pacemaker.

The unit operates on a 9-volt mercury battery with a life of 1,000 hours. As a safety factor, however, Barker replaces the battery every 500 hours.

The Pacemaker is about the size of a pocket radio and is worn under Barker's shirt.

name their delegation to the GOP national convention and decide how strong an endorsement to give Vice President Richard Nixon today.

The 1,200 delegates to the state convention also will consider nominees for national committee and will pass resolutions for consideration at the national convention next month in Chicago.

The turnout is the largest for the party in years. Nixon backers appeared to be in the majority, though supporters of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater claim increasing sentiment for their candidates.

The majority of Goldwater's backing seems to be for the vice-presidential nomination.

21 Die When Boat Rips On Swift Polish River

Warsaw, Poland —(AP)—Eighteen school children 13 to 18 years old, a teacher and two boatmen died Monday when a boat capsized on the swift Dunajec mountain river in southern Poland.

Only five children were saved, the newspaper Zycie Warszawy reported.

The children, on an excursion from the steel center of Nowa Huta, had gone in the boat with their teacher to watch timber being floated down the Dunajec, one of Poland's most beautiful and rapid-flowing rivers.

Connecticut Court OKs Bank Teller Public Bus Travel for Parochial School Pupils

However, Jurists Rule Funds May Not Be Expended to Support This Service

errors today ruled that a state law permitting transportation of parochial school pupils in public school buses is constitutional.

The state's highest tribunal added, however, that use of money from the Connecticut School Fund for this type of service is unconstitutional.

Income from the school fund, about $117,000 last year, is presently deposited in the state's general fund and credited to the state education department.

May Ride Bus
But Chief Justice Raymond E. Baldwin, with three of the other four judges concurring, found nothing wrong with the law permitting non-profit private school children to ride to their classes in public school buses.

The law, they said, "aids the parents in sending their children to a school of their choice, as is their right. It protects the children from the dangers of modern traffic and reduces the hazard of contracting illness in bad weather."

"It is consistent with the present-day policy of gathering children in modern schools for better educational opportunities. It primarily serves the public health, safety and welfare and fosters education."

"Comes Up to Wall"
"In the light of our history and policy, it cannot be said to compel support of the church. . . . It comes up to, but does not breach, the wall of separation" between church and state."

The fifth justice, Samuel Mellitz, disagreed with the portion of the opinion ruling the law constitutional.

He said the question was whether the fact that the town pays for transporting pupils to and from the Roman Catholic school involved

Accused of Holdup Plan

New York —(AP)—A bank teller with a taste for the race tracks is accused of engineering a holdup against himself to hide the embezzlement of $58,000 in bank funds he lost on the horses.

FBI agents arrested Hugh J. Degnan Monday night after two men got away with $25,000 at a branch of the County Trust company in suburban Yonkers, N.Y. The arrest was made after intensive questioning of Degnan.

The 29-year-old teller from Cliffside Park, N.J., was at his window when the men entered near closing time. One of the men handed him a note reading "Gun in hand. Give me money." Degnan handed across $25,000. He rang the alarm after the men had escaped.

The hunt is still on for the two men.

The money they took, plus the money Degnan allegedly embezzled, amounted to the $83,000 that bank officials reported missing.

Degnan, employed at the bank the last four years, was slated for arraignment before a U.S. commissioner here today on bank robbery and embezzlement charges. The charges carry a maximum possible sentence of 20 years in prison and $5,000 fine.

The act also stresses that "no law shall ever be made authorizing said fund to be diverted to any other use than the encouragement and support of public, or common schools, among the several school societies, as justice which shall be inviolably ap- and equity shall require."

Sought Block
Two weeks after Newtown voted 1,242 to 1,218 to authorize such bus service, a group of residents decided to ask the courts to block such use of town buses by parochial school pupils.

The action by the citizens' group landed in the state's supreme court.

All five justices said the School Fund law is clear.

The fund, originally $1,200,000 derived from the sale of lands in the Western Reserve claimed by Connecticut, specifies that it "remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which shall be inviolably ap- and equity shall require."

Says Adlai Would Run If Urged by Democrats

Harrisburg, Pa. —(AP)—Gov. David Lawrence says he thinks Adlai Stevenson would run for the presidency if the party urged him.

Lawrence, a powerful Democratic leader and staunch supporter of Stevenson in both the 1952 and 1956 Democratic conventions, also discounts statements by some that Stevenson could not win in view of his two previous losses to President Eisenhower.

"I think all Democrats can win," Lawrence told a news conference Monday.

Lawrence, who will head Pennsylvania's 81-vote delegation to the national convention in Los Angeles July 11, said he conferred with Stevenson by telephone during a weekend trip to Chicago.

"We talked about the whole (political) picture," Lawrence said. He declined to elaborate.

TV Faces New Blast - It's Fattening

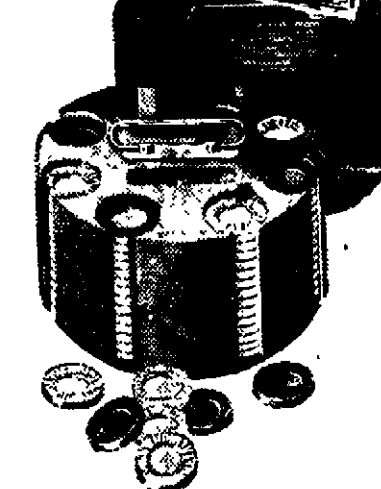

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

New York — The television industry which has been belted this year with scandals, investigations and criticism, now has been hit by the hardest body blow of all. It was accused of being fattening.

Wisconsin and the Vice Presidency

Somewhat to their surprise Wisconsin citizens find themselves facing the possibility — although a very long-shot one at best — of being able to choose between national tickets this fall each carrying the name of a Wisconsin man as a candidate for vice president of the United States. The boomlet for Rep. John W. Byrnes of the Eighth District for the No. 2 spot on the Republican ballot, although started by his friends principally as a way of showing their pride in this fine Republican leader, seems to be getting at least some national attention. Now several commentators in Washington and elsewhere are including Gov. Gaylord Nelson among the possible vice presidential nominees of the Democrats.

The theory being pursued by these pundits ties Gov. Nelson's chances to the presidential aspirations of Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts. Sen. Kennedy is an easterner and presumably has a considerably greater appeal for urban voters than for farmers and other rural folk. Thus if he should win the presidential nomination, the theory goes, he will be looking for a Protestant midwestern governor who has shown strength among the farmers. Govs. Freeman of Minnesota, Nelson of Wisconsin and Docking of Kansas seem to fit this definition.

It would be rather surprising to see Gov. Nelson, so recently promoted from the relative obscurity of the Wisconsin State Senate and so relatively untried as a statewide vote-getter in the sense that he has yet to win approval from the state's voters for his fledgling administration, suddenly promoted to the high office of vice president. Yet stranger things have happened in American politics especially in connection with that particular office, the candidates for which are chosen on the basis of pure politics to a far greater extent than is the case with most public offices.

We would say that should either of these Wisconsin men gain the nomination and/or the office, he would acquit himself with distinction. We can say this somewhat more confidently with regard to Rep. Byrnes because his long record in the House of Representatives has given us an opportunity to assess his qualifications — and they are topnotch — more completely than is the case with Gov. Nelson. Yet from observation of him during the short time he has held important responsibility in Wisconsin, we would say that if any young and relatively untried political leader is to be snatched from obscurity and elevated to the vice presidency, Gov. Nelson would perform his responsibilities as well as any of like qualifications, and like Rep. Byrnes, would justify his native state's pride in him.

Walden Is Permanent

The Massachusetts Supreme Court has ordered Middlesex county to get a bathing house out of sight, replant a hill of trees and otherwise return Walden Pond to the way it was four years ago when "improvements" were begun. Such action is necessary, says the court because Thoreau's old home grounds were given to the area "to aid the Commonwealth in preserving the Walden of Emerson and Thoreau." It's quite clear that Henry David would not have tolerated a bath house.

When Thoreau settled down for his year at Walden he was seeking to get at the bottom of things.

"I went into the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived . . . When we are unhurried and wise, we perceive that only great and worthy things have any permanent and absolute existence, that petty fears and petty pleasures are but the shadow of reality."

If everyone agreed with Thoreau in all his deliberations, there probably would be anarchy, although if everyone were like Thoreau in his habits and desires it probably wouldn't matter. But his contributions to American thought are even more important today in our increasingly materialistic and collectivist society than they were when he lived.

There are lots of wooded areas and ponds more beautiful, more isolated, more austere than Walden Pond. Undoubtedly a lot of the people who campaigned so vigorously to "save Walden" are more concerned with hero worship than with Thoreau's ideas. But Walden Pond is symbolic of the continuing struggle of the individual for truth and peace and hope despite the layers of the unnecessary and the complex. As such it deserves to live much as it was when Thoreau meditated and wrote by the water.

Bring One Back Alive!

The old reason for climbing a mountain "because it's there" isn't good enough in this specialized age. An expedition now in preparation is taking along all sorts of scientific equipment to justify the trip. But we may suspect that it is the lure of the unknown and the strange, exhilarating thrill of dizzy heights that still prompt the adventurers.

Sir Edmund Hillary, the conqueror of Mount Everest, is heading a group of six Americans, six New Zealanders and five Englishmen, along with Lady Hillary and some other wives, to head for the top of Malaku Peak in Nepal some 20 miles from the old giant, Everest. This is no lonely trip. Twenty Sherpa guides and about 680 load bearers will go along at least for the early stages.

The climb is being sponsored by such organizations as the World Book Encyclopedia, the British Medical Research Council, the Oxford University School of Psychology and the American School of Aviation Medicine. The joint purpose is first, to determine the effects of high altitude upon the human system — respiration, blood pressure and heart beat — and secondly, to seek the Abominable Snowman. Sir Edmund points out that space capsule travel can use the scientific information. As for the Snowman, which has supposedly been sighted and tracked in various high mountain areas of the Himalayas, Sir Edmund doesn't think it is human but probably some species of bear.

Different sections of the party will spend periods of time at varying altitudes, to determine the physical effects with and without oxygen apparatus. But one further angle should be studied although it may be somewhat difficult: At what altitude does one start seeing the Abominable Snowman?

Oh Shucks! Why Worry?

If you are a member in good standing, as we are, of the National Peanut Shuckers and Crunchers association, you'll be dismayed at reports from the agriculture department that our peanut supply is shrinking.

It is understandable how we, as a nation, may have bobbled the U2 incident or miscalculated in shooting a rocket at the moon.

These are paths down which we've never before trod.

But the peanut is a national institution and if we have permitted it to diminish in number then it's high time the matter be investigated.

What a sorry nation we would be without the peanut. What could take its place, for instance, during those long and difficult hours we must put in before the television set? And how could we ever again enjoy a baseball game? Indeed, our lives, once rich and full, would be akin to empty shucks.

But there's danger here far greater than a mere shortage of peanuts.

Suppose congress got wind of the situation. Great debates may ensue and, in the end, a federal peanut agency probably would be established, headed by a man known henceforth as national peanut commissioner with a salary of $30,000-$40,000 per year.

What if the agency's budget requirements were in the billions, thus upsetting forever the delicate dollar balance of the foreign aid program, defense spending and assorted domestic projects?

Our taxes might go up again and that, in any man's language, would not be peanuts.

Older Cities Have Problem of Clearing Rotting Buildings

From The Hartford (Wis.) Times-Press

During the last couple of weeks, and continuing at the present time, the city of Hartford is conducting an all out building inspection drive in an effort to weed out and improve the many, many eye-sores and undesirable living quarters that are bound to crop up in every city, especially one like Hartford that finds itself growing at such a rapid clip that old barns, old building and living quarters are not keeping pace with the growth of the city. At the present time, something like 75 buildings, including many old barns and sheds, plus a liberal number of badly run-down living quarters are in the process of being hauled into the health spotlight. Orders are being issued to the landlords to clean up, modernize, or tear down.

It's about time, and it is a mighty good move. There are perhaps a dozen places in which people are actually living that are not fit for animals, except for the rats and bugs that dominate the places. It is from places like these that slum areas develop, as pestilence breeds more. The time to stop it is when it starts, and fortunately for Hartford, our city government has stepped in in time and the filth is being ruled out of existence.

This goes not only for residences, but for old barns and shacks that have fallen into disrepair and become nothing but a headquarters for rats and all that goes with them. Through the fine work of the city health office, the building inspector and the police department, these places are being rooted out one after another, and orders issued that the time has come to make a change.

We want to compliment the mayor, and particularly our new city clerk, for this excellent move.

Requests by Big City Mayors Would be Costly to Rural Areas

From The Wall Street Journal

Mayors of some of the nation's big cities were in Washington recently with their hats in their hands, a posture one has come to expect of these otherwise dignified gentlemen when they call on Uncle Sam.

As usual, they were pleading for federal funds. Mayor Tuck of St. Louis wants a half billion dollars more for urban renewal or slum clearance and he joined Mayor Wagner of New York and some others in a plea for $100 million in federal loans to help street car and bus riders and commuters.

We suppose it's useless to point out again that taxing rural areas to provide better transportation for urban areas hardly seems fair, especially as Mayor Wagner seems to have taken care of that point in talking to the senate banking committee's housing subcommittee.

The mayor said the federal government has just as much at stake in urban transportation as it has in subsidized highways, airlines and water transport. He might also have added subsidized farmers and subsidized foreign governments.

But it is just this sort of approach to their fiscal problems that have the states and cities in so much trouble as it is. And the trouble does not come from a lack of knowing what goes on; the mayors and governors know very well that the federal funds they beg or demand of Washington come from the same pockets as the taxes they receive.

Too many of the mayors and governors will simply not face up to the difficulties increased demands on the federal purse bring to their own cities and states. They prefer to let their successors deal with that problem.

It is very true that state and municipal tax money is harder and harder to come by. After the federal government has siphoned off its growing share there isn't much left for the other taxing authorities . . .

Honest Approach

The honest thing for the mayors and governors to do would be to tell their people the only sound way to solve local problems is to increase local taxes. And the only sound way to increase local taxes is for voters to tell their senators and representatives to quit grabbing off so much for Washington or they'll find themselves out of a job.

That, perhaps, would be too revolutionary an approach for one set of politicians to take concerning other politicians.

But it will take something revolutionary before the taxpayer frees himself from the triple squeeze of federal, state and local spenders all busy playing the old shell game with the taxpayer in the role of yokel at the county fair.

Looking Backward

Democrats to Try Again June 18

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 16, 1860.

Ever since the adjournment of the Charleston convention in May last, the anxious gaze of all politicians of every political party both national and sectional has been directed to one point — to the action of the Democratic National Convention which will reassemble at Baltimore on Monday, the 18th inst.

Since the adjournment at Charleston some of the seceding states have elected new delegates, while others have directed their constituents to vote with the majority of the convention. This will unquestionably result in the nomination of the "Little Giant" and Statesman of the North-West.

Let the convention come together in harmony — as there is no doubt but that it will — and nominate a representative ticket and the result will be a glorious victory over all the fagots in the shape of parties in November next.

The seceders' convention, it is generally conceded, will be indefinitely postponed.

25 YEARS AGO

The administration bill providing for elimination in seven years of all holding companies deemed "unnecessary" to the utilities business was passed by the senate and sent to the White House.

Philip Bixby, Jr., was named assistant scoutmaster of Troop 8, the Congregational church troop. Gordon Derber was scoutmaster.

Appleton Chamber of Commerce directors and legislative committee went on record as opposing Bill 443-S, the governor's work relief bill. The purpose back of the bill was given approval but the methods were severely condemned.

Miss Mabel Burke, Appleton, was reelected state vice regent of the Wisconsin court, Catholic Daughters of America, at its biennial convention at Superior. Mrs. Verne Crockett, Menasha, again was chosen state regent.

Mowry Smith was named general chairman for the carnival of the Menasha Wooden Ware Boy Scouts. Troop No. 9, which was to be held Friday.

Must Nail Down Tax Charge Against State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — One of the great challenges in state affairs is to nail down the relation between economic development and specifically industrial expansion and state tax policies and practices.

It is one of the murkiest issues in political discussions, largely because so few politicians have dared to face up to it in spite of the fact that it has been dodging in and out of political debate for a quarter of a century.

Some progress toward elucidating it was made when a University of Wisconsin panel of economists, examining taxes and their impact, acknowledged that taxation of manufacturing here is higher than in some of the states with which the state is in obvious economic competition. But then the professors flinched from their conclusion, apparently, and hastily added that they were not convinced of the relation of taxes to the possible deterrents to industrial location.

THE CHALLENGE

That is why the quiet lecture delivered the other day before the tax study commission by Edmund Fitzgerald of Milwaukee was so refreshing, and so potentially useful. For he has prestige.

He is one of the most public spirited men of Milwaukee. For several decades he was one of the leading business executives of the state. As the head of the Northwestern Mutual Insurance company he had priceless opportunities to observe the economic debits and credits of his state.

Mr. Fitzgerald was specific. Psychologically the tax reputation of the state is a barrier to the location of new business enterprises in Wisconsin, he said. The issue should be settled once and for all, he advised.

If the reputation is proved false, he appeared to be saying, the total resources of the state government should be devoted to telling the country the facts.

If the reputation turns out to be deserved, he was suggesting also, the political leaders of the state should act at once to change it by such modifications in the fiscal system as the facts indicate are needed.

No more sensible speech has been made in the state capitol in years. It was made by a man whose purposes cannot be impugned. It is one thing to snarl and scoff at a politician who makes such suggestions. It is quite another to point the finger at a man like Fitzgerald, who if he has any partisan leanings has been careful to keep them private.

THE MEASURE

This thoughtful leader, whose active business career has been concluded, also made a distinction that is often lost sight of in the passion and vitriol of the argument about tax problems.

It is not so much a matter of business leaving the state (although every observant citizen can name a few examples within his memory.) It is rather a matter of the attraction of new enterprise. Where are the central company offices being established? Is Wisconsin getting a proportionate share of new industrial lines? Where are Wisconsin-domiciled corporations putting their expansion?

Manufacturing industry is not like a garden hose that can be picked up and moved elsewhere at will. A basic business established here is likely to be required to stay.

It is the fashion for some persons unwilling to examine tax problems candidly to prate about other Wisconsin advantages — often with the insinuation that to doubt them is to be unpatriotic. There is talk about a superior work force and a scenic landscape and an invigorating climate and the rest.

But auditors are hard-headed fellows. It is hard to put climate and landscape into a profit and loss statement. The Wisconsin population, moreover, is not demonstrably superior in efficiency to those of immediately neighboring states such as Illinois. Mr. Fitzgerald gently but firmly put his finger on the great challenge of state political policy today.

Sens. LaFave and Alfonsi Killed Park Sticker Bill

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Sen. LaFave has accused me of killing the park sticker fee bill which Gov. Gaylord Nelson sponsored in both 1959 and 1960. The fact is that this bill was killed by LaFave and his Republican counterpart in the assembly, Paul Alfonsi, and both men know it!

The governor's bill provided for a sticker plan and earmarked the funds to increase the park budget from $665,000 to $1,022,000. The LaFave-Alfonsi amendments knocked out the entire increase and limited park expenditures to the original $665,000. This meant that park visitors would pay $440,000 in sticker fees this year, but none of the added revenue could be used to improve our park system.

As amended, the bill provided thousands of dollars for sticker fees but not one cent for parks. That is why two conservative Republicans in the state senate joined with the Democrats in providing the votes necessary to kill the bill.

Sees Lack of Concentration, Choice of Goal

Men Prone to Fragmented Lives, Rev. Alton Says

Concentration on the future, rather than a preoccupation with the past, in both daily life and religion was urged Sunday by the Rev. Ralph T. Alton, pastor of First Methodist church.

As an example of intense concentration, he cited Rev. Alton an Olympic athlete about to begin a race — his whole body and mind intent on the goal at the end of the race.

The Rev. Dr. Alton quoted St. Paul's assertion on concentration: "I concentrate on this; I leave the past behind and with hands outstretched to whatever lies ahead I go straight for the goal—the upward call of God in Christ Jesus."

Our Avoidism

"There is a tremendous lack of that kind of concentration in the living people of our day—we are prone to live such fragmented lives—a sequence of unrelated experiences without any unifying purpose except that they all happen to us," the pastor stated.

The Rev. Dr. Alton said a humorist has developed a philosophy of avoidism where by man avoids trouble by not becoming involved in anything. Man tends to run off in many directions at once, rather than dedicating himself to one thing, the pastor said.

A Dove of Peace Topping the globe was the theme of a float entered by the City of Appleton in the Flag parade Saturday. The flag was reproduced in tissue paper as a background for the young ladies riding the float. They are Katy Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schultz; Barbara Peotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Peotter; and Judy Mitchell, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Clarence Mitchell.

"Matching the tendency toward no concentration of purpose for life at all is the equally—if not more—tragic blunder of concentrating on the wrong goal." Graduates should determine what they want out of life, the pastor said, for if they later find a goal is not worth striving for and live for the new day that will come from God's hands."

St. Paul also says he lives with hands outstretched to whatever lies ahead, the Rev. Dr. Alton said. "He knows and whatever he is to make out of life will be made out of the experiences that come to him — whatever they are."

"And he does not just wait in apprehension for things to happen; he is anxious to get on with it. Many popular psychologies lack significant motivation," the Rev. Dr. Alton said. "The man who sets the purpose of his life in the upward call of God in Christ Jesus — who desires above all else to reflect in his life the spirit of Jesus, and thus to know the victorious faith of Jesus—will have the one motivation that can help him successfully to leave the past behind and meet the future with expectation," the Rev. Dr. Alton stated.

Hollywood Discovers Fine Play for Film

Rumours Claim Lynn Fontanne May Portray Lead in 'Chalk Garden'

BY JINGO

One of the finest moments in recent seasons for the Attic Theater in Appleton was the production of "The Chalk Garden." The play is superbly written with suspense, wit and biting comment.

It has finally been discovered by Hollywood. For those who saw the Attic production, this should be good news enough; but Jingo is loaded today.

Backstage maneuverings have revealed movement toward a tremendous cast. The word is that producer Ross Hunter is attempting to sign Vivian Leigh and Wisconsin's adopted daughter Lynn Fontanne for the meaty roles.

Miss Fontanne, Mrs. Alfred Lunt in Genevieve Depot, has made only one film, "The Guardsman," with Lunt 28 years ago. That's much too long ago. Her artistry should be shared by more than the theater-going public even in such a wide area.

Lunt and Fontanne have covered in their most generous road policy. Best of luck, Ross. You have a real mission.

Speaking of the Attic Theater reminds us the summer stage season is almost upon us despite the weather. On June 28 the recently rescued Peninsula Players at Fish Creek will throw open their theater in the garden. The season ticket buys 11 instead of 10 shows as in the past and Door county vacationers can pick up a pair of seats for two weekends at a discount.

The season — billed as a make or break effort — is most ambitious. It includes "Make a Million," "Once More With Feeling," "The Gazebo," "Auntie Mame," "The Diary of Anne Frank," "Sunrise at Campobello," "The Golden Fleece," "Blue Denim," "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," "Sweet Bird of Youth" and, of course, "Two for the Seesaw." Sounds more like a best play anthology than a real schedule.

The recently appointed head of the Oshkosh State college drama department, Miss Gloria Link, again will serve as resident director of the Green Ram summer stock theater near Baraboo this season. The Green Ram opens July 1. Miss Link has directed 19 of the 27 shows at the summer theater during its 3-year life. She also played Jingo leads in five shows. She will direct six shows this year. Sharing directorial duties will be Mitchell R. McElroy, Richard Mason and Don Burdick.

A trip to the Green Ram could be the frosting on an adventurous trip to Baraboo with a stop at the State Historical society's Circus World museum for the matinee attraction.

Next Friday the historical society will stage one of its annual big social events at Villa Louis at Prairie du Chien. The 100-year-old wilderness palace of Hercules Louis Dousman will come alive as a tea presided over by curator Mrs. Florence Bittner. The public is invited.

Producer Plans New Plays, 2 Musicals

New York — Producer Cheryl Crawford has been going ahead with plans for new shows this fall despite the labor troubles that darkened Broadway. She has four new plays and two new musicals planned.

Her favorite entry seems to be a stage musical version of "Hold Back the Dawn," from a movie made in 1941 about an American school teacher below the Mexican border for an opportune time to enter the United States.

Main interest on this now centers on the fact that the songs are some recently discovered among unpublished compositions by the late Jerome Kern.

It Was in This Small country school near Fredonia, Wis., that a $40-a-month school teacher began his campaign on June 14, 1885, to honor the flag. The efforts of Bernard J. Cigrand, insert, finally paid off in 1916 when President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed June 14 Flag day. The Continental congress adopted the Stars and Stripes on June 14, 1777.

Richard Conte Develops Own Acting Methods

Hollywood — Richard Conte doesn't concern himself with the well-known acting methods — he has his own.

The Conte method applies to only one person: a dark, almost sinister-looking man who has been playing top character roles for 15 years.

"I've discovered that personality is based upon the dynamics of the individual and orientation to one's work is the key," Conte says. "Orientation is the source of energy and out of that comes the pleasure for work which is the secret of life."

Stresses Energy "Orientation, energy and therefore pleasure. If you derive pleasure from it, it has to be good and you'll have the energy. I stress energy because it's in nature."

An actor can, always make a role alive and interesting if he understands about orientation and energy, Conte believes.

His acting theory also considers motivation: "A lot of people are under the delusion that money is happiness. This is not true. It's the orientation. It's doing your job the best way you know how and from that comes money."

Wisconsin Teacher Held First Flag Day Rites 75 Years Ago

Country School Becomes Shrine Honoring Man Who Crusaded for Stars and Stripes

Three quarters of a century for a new star in Old tury ago, a 19 year old, $40 Glory.

Helped Write Pledge Dr. Cigrand is also credited with helping to write the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States in 1889. He later petitioned President Wilson to urge its acceptance by the war department.

Bernard J. Cigrand, who later became a professor of dentistry and a college dean, began a lifelong crusade on June 14, 1885, to honor the adoption of the Stars and stripes by the Continental congress on June 14, 1777.

Thirty-one years later, in 1916, his devotion to the flag was rewarded when President Woodrow Wilson declared June 14 as National Flag day. In 1949, long after Dr. Cigrand's death, the congress and President Harry S. Truman proclaimed the flag would be displayed on all government buildings on June 14 and asked the American people to join in the observance of the flag's anniversary.

School is Shrine The little country schoolhouse near Fredonia, Wis., where Dr. Cigrand conceived his patriotic idea has become a national shrine, restored to its original appearance and condition by the National Fraternal Flag Day foundation, a non-profit corporation established by Wisconsin fraternal societies, most of whom are members of the National Fraternal Congress of America. The Aid Association for Lutherans is a member and Alex O. Benz, AAL chairman of the board, is president of the fraternal congress.

Traditional flag-raising ceremonies are held at the tiny Wisconsin schoolhouse, as part of the observance of Fraternal week, June 12-18, sponsored by the National Fraternal Congress of America. Honor salutes are given the flag and Dr. Cigrand by marching units, drum and bugle corps, bands, Boy and Girl Scout troops, veterans' groups and fraternal societies' representatives. Catholic, Protestant and Jewish religious leaders also take part.

See Original Flagpole After the ceremonies thousands of sightseers will inspect the limestone schoolhouse, 28 miles north of Milwaukee. They will see the original desks and books used by Dr. Cigrand's pupils, along with the original flagpole in the schoolyard.

This year the 50-star flag will be raised, commemorating the addition of Hawaii to the union. In 1885, when Dr. Cigrand led his pupils through the first Flag day exercises, only 38 states were represented. Since then, North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Alaska and Hawaii have each been respon-

High Cliff to Get $150,000 Marina

Association Plans Drive for Funds; S. F. Shattuck Chairman

Improvement of High Cliff state park by construction of a $150,000 boat marina has been approved by the High Cliff Forest Park association. The marina is expected to provide an area for some 180 boats west along the north shore of Lake Winnebago at High Cliff. The $150,000 will come from private funds.

The High Cliff Forest Park association has named S. F. Shattuck, Neenah, general chairman and John B. Catlin, Neenah, vice chairman of the marina committee. It is hoped that work will get under way this fall and the marina will be ready for use by the next boating season.

The improvement project, under consideration for several years, will include about four acres of water area, a minimum depth of five feet and a channel width of 60 feet, according to plans which now are being worked out in detail by the engineers of the Wisconsin Conservation department.

Direct Appeal
A direct appeal for funds will be made to some 5,000 persons who are members of outboard motorboat clubs.

Shattuck has asked William J. Nuss, Fond du Lac, to head the fund drive in his area, and Baldwin C. Meyer, Oshkosh, to direct the campaign in the Oshkosh, Lake Butte des Morts, Lake Poygan and Winneconne and Fremont areas.

Catlin will handle the fund raising work in the Neenah, Menasha and Little Lake Butte des Morts areas while James Bamberg, Kaukauna, will head the fund drive in Appleton, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna.

Fined $75 for Topsy Driving

Youth's Sentence Stayed Five Days Pending Appeal

Waupaca — Alan Larkee, 19, of Royalton street, Waupaca, was fined $75 Monday and his driver's license was revoked for one year after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving.

Police Justice George Whalen stayed the sentence five days pending an appeal. Larkee was arrested May 7 by county police on County Highway Q.

Stordock Named Commander of Mexican War Vets

La Crosse — Gilman H. Stordock of King was named national commander of the Mexican Border Veterans at the group's 31st annual convention.

Carl Mohrbacher of Shawnee, Okla., was elected senior vice commander; Walter J. Zane of South Bend, Ind., junior vice commander, and Capt. Harry Donovan of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, historian. Mrs. Vernon Helsapple of La Crosse was elected president of the ladies auxiliary.

The Old Oneida street swing bridge collapsed into the canal last week as a workman for the Floyd Acheson company began dismantling it. He began cutting with an acetylene torch at the middle of the bridge, the point of greatest stress, instead of at the ends, it was observed. It will have to be cut into small pieces and dragged out of the river. Acheson got the dismantling job as a sub-contract from LaCrosse Dredging company, builder of the new bridge.

Board Criticizes Report By Elementary Principals

Asks Gobbledygook Removal From Project Recommendation

The Appleton board of education Monday sent what one member called a "dismal, shocking, shameful and most unprofessional report" by a group of elementary principals back to the authors.

The report on "Internship Project for Elementary Principals," a project connected with the Wisconsin Improvement program, was criticized most severely by A. Neil McLeod, who pointed out its "abysmal English."

McLeod said there was a question as to the grammatical construction of the first section's title, "What is this study concerned with?"

The first paragraph referred to an appendix called "Orientation, Training Selection and In-service of Principals." McLeod termed the title a "non sequitur" (meaning it does not follow).

Called Gobbledygook
In the 90-word sentence of the second paragraph, McLeod pointed to the phrase "opportunities of consultative special emphasis in group dynamics and human relations, have read "opportunities for and a desire for participation consultative help." Later in the sentence "collateral" was misspelled as "collateral."

The sentence mentioned "the involvement of Miss Klemm and Miss Pelzer in the University of Wisconsin Summer School Workshop." Wondering what "involvement" meant here, McLeod suggested that "it sounds obscene." The phrase is gobbledygook, he added.

Two lines below, the report mentions "the felt need" to enlarge the internship program. That phrase is redundant, McLeod pointed out.

"Not Sold" on Plan
The board sat in silence after McLeod's criticism until Supt. John P. Mann said "Shall I continue?"

Mann had said that he was "not sold" on the report's recommendation to put a man on $6,250 annual salary as an intern principal, which would include neither teaching nor administrative responsibility. The cost would be shared by the Appleton schools and the Wisconsin Improvement program, a project financed by the Ford foundation and conducted by the University of Wisconsin education school.

Program 'Disoriented'
Mann suggested that the intern could teach a sixth grade class which would be turned over to a substitute teacher while he was getting experience in principal's duties. About one third of his time or

Northwest Water Tower Site

Property Owner Charges City With Deception in Land Purchase

An Appleton property owner has charged she was deceived when the city's agent purchased two lots from her for a water tower.

Mrs. Minnie Pingel said in city hall Monday she had had "no idea the land was to be used for a water tower," and demanded the city sell the lots back to her.

Her attorney, Joseph Witmer, contended the city's agent, Steinberg real-estate agency, bought the land under false pretenses.

Why Secrecy?

"Why all this secrecy and dealing through a third party to keep all this covered up?" Witmer asked. "If the city wanted the property why didn't you people come right out and say so? My client and I want this whole deal done over according to law."

Mrs. Pingel was led to understand the lots were to be used for residential purposes, Witmer asserted.

She claims six prospective lot buyers have backed out of preliminary negotiations because of the water tower. "The value of my land has depreciated considerably," the woman declared.

The two lots are on the south side of Lindbergh street, between Summit and Bennett streets and cost $4,670. The water commission ask-

Mann to Hire Six Teachers For Appleton

Supt. John P. Mann was granted permission by the Appleton board of education last night to add six teachers to school faculties. One primary, two half-time, intermediate, one summer school and two high school instructors are needed.

Increased enrollments at Sacred Heart Catholic school are forcing the second grade to run on shifts. Consequently, parents who object to the double sessions are transferring their children into the second grade at Madison school; and another teacher is needed, Mann said.

Two half-time instructors are needed to teach French and physical education in the intermediate grades and in increased enrollment in the eighth grade August typing for will teach industrial arts. A home economics teacher who has taken the Red Cross nursing course will be hired to teach home nursing at Appleton High school because a qualified nurse with a teaching certificate can't be found. The other high school instructor will teach industrial arts.

No Cost, No Place
But when the commission brought its request before the board of public works it failed to give an exact location or the price, until asked to do so. Then it told the board the site was in a raw land area and that objections to the tower were unlikely. James Wagg, water commission chairman, said the real reason the land was wanted was not disclosed for economic reasons. "You know the price would have doubled if it had been known why we wanted it, and the city shouldn't have to pay that much," he asserted.

Jury To Handle
City Atty. Don Jury said he would determine what the city's obligations were on returning the property to Mrs. Pingel.

Neighbor Threat To Hedge

BY EMILY POST
 Dear Mrs. Post: We have a neighbor who constantly cuts through our hedge to take a short cut to our house. She is a very nice person and I would like to keep her friendship, but this going back and forth is ruining our hedge. Is there any way we can tell her that we do not like her cutting through the hedge without hurting her feelings?
 Answer: There is no reason why you should allow your hedge to be ruined in polite silence. You might add a few plants to it and ask your neighbor to please not cut through where they are planted so that they can grow and make the whole hedge beautiful and even.

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

It is frustrating to work diligently on a skirt, fit and tailor it perfectly and then find, after a few wearings, that the waistband has stretched. You then either put on a belt and pull it in tight or else take the skirt apart and alter it.
 Frankly, I can't blame you if you use the belt method, because it's both tedious and infuriating to alter a garment that has been recently made.
 However, if you start out right, the waistband of a skirt can be made so that it does not stretch.
 Cut waistband four inches longer than your waist measurement. Use the selvage for one edge for a smoother finished waistband and to prevent pulling out of shape. The waistband should be completed and fitted to you separately from the skirt. Then the skirt is eased to fit the waistband. Any excess of waistband may be cut off after you have had a fitting.

 Interfacing is important. It prevents stretching and the band from curling over.
 If you cannot cut the band with the selvage on the edge, then stitch seam binding along one edge instead, 4-inch from edge on the wrong side.
 Cut interfacing piece one-half as wide as waistband and the same length. Baste interfacing to wrong side of one-half of the waistband (A). If skirt is to be laundered, stitch interfacing to band along the four sides. If it is to be dry cleaned, catch-stitch in place.

 Fit band to your waistline, so it fits as you desire. Mark at each end. Fold band in half lengthwise and stitch across ends, leaving one and one-half inches excess to allow for overlapping. The inside end is straight, and the other end may be straight or pointed (B). Trim seams; clip corners; turn right side out and press. Pin and baste band to right side of skirt, easing skirt at waist to fit band (C). Try skirt on to test fit of band. Make any necessary adjustment. Stitch belt to skirt, taking full seam allowance. Trim seam, cutting skirt edge narrower than band edge. Press waistline seam up and inside the band. Turn under free edge of belt and pin over seam edges. Whip edge into place as shown (D). If you wish, top stitch edges of band, top and bottom.
 Close zipper. Lap ends of band and mark position of hooks and eyes. Sew them on in line with zipper.

Your Problems

No Need Not be Explained, Contends Feminine Reader

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I just read the letter from the girl who couldn't think of a good reason for telling her boy friend to keep his hands to himself. I was once in that very same spot. I felt I had to be nice to the boys or they wouldn't take me out. Anna Landers' popularity was the big thing in my life and I didn't want to take a chance on offending anybody.

Pretty soon it was plain that I was being out-talked every time I had a date. Then I smartened up and decided I didn't owe anybody any explanations. I just said, "Look, George, I don't have to give you any reasons why not. You know the difference between right and wrong. Now behave yourself or take me home."
 The tone of my voice showed I meant business and I never had any trouble after that. I also discovered that once I started to call the signals I had more dates than ever—and the right kind too.

—Smarter Now

DEAR ANN: About that guy who found two dimes on the floor of the taxi cab and put them in his pocket: You told his girl friend he was a cheap skate and he should have turned the money over to the driver.
 This letter is being written by five graduating seniors from Chicago's top law school, if not Illinois' best. Your decision against the boy friend was ill-considered and bogus.
 According to Illinois law the back seat of a tax cab is a public place. Any personal property found therein is presumed to be lost and belongs to the finder.
 We suggest that you immediately reverse your decision in favor of the boy friend until the true owner proves title and demands return of same.

reviewed your findings and has advised me as follows:
 "A taxi cab is not a public place. It is a privately owned vehicle used as a common carrier. The driver has possession and custody of the vehicle and is responsible for safely transporting its passengers and their goods. A passenger in a taxi cab is not in possession of the cab and has no right to any property therein."
 If you five law students represent the best of the current crop of future attorneys, heaven help us all.

thoughtfulness, but I hate for him to spend the money. I've begged him to drop me a line instead but he says he never writes letters to anyone.
 Why would a man flatly refuse to write a letter? I happen to know he didn't have much of a formal education. Could this be it?—Baffled fiancée.

Dear Baffled: That could be it, all right. He's probably unsure of his spelling and grammar. Now that you know—quit nagging. Keep the phone conversations brief and let him know you appreciate his thoughtfulness.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Cabinet Finds Unexpected Location for Extra Bed

With so many guest appearances billed for the next many weeks, comes that problem again of locating another bed in the only possible spot for it. Perhaps there isn't a spot until a new idea promises to hide the bed away so completely that no one would guess it was there, and in space that's less than a bed should reasonably be expected to occupy. These severe requirements call for a cabinet that tucks a bed inside.
 Satched is one type of bed-containing cabinet which gives away no secrets of its night life, and even provides drawers for the extra bed linen. Its cane-panneled doors open for the bed to roll out and open up

Share Moving Plans, Feelings With Children

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
You are not the only American family who has had to pull up stakes and move to a new city. Americans are a mobile lot and somehow they seem to survive — profit too — by establishing homes hither and yon.
Moving has very special meaning to children and if you want to have a smooth transition, you'd better consider how best to handle the question of moving the youngsters.
Plan Together
First and foremost, take them into your confidence in making the plans both about leaving and about re-settling. A child who is to be uprooted from his school and his neighborhood needs to feel a firm place in his family.
The moved child must depend completely on his family for his feeling of having a little niche of his own in this world.
The more he can share in the family plans the better. A 10-year-old can hardly take part in the decision whether to move or not. Usually that's a choice up to Dad since it's usually Dad's job that brings about most family moves.
But once the decision has been made, be sure to tell the child about it. Tell him too about Dad's new job, about how much it means to Dad to get this opportunity. The child will enjoy pride in Dad's promotion, too.
But don't ignore what the move will mean to him. He will think about all the things he has to leave behind, his friends, the Scouts, maybe the little league baseball team. It will be a wrench for him. Be understanding, let him talk out his disappointment at not being able to finish with his gang.
Don't push the virtues of the new place on him until he is ready to listen. Let him know that you understand he is giving up something valuable to him because it's important to Dad. This is the stuff out of which family solidarity is made.
Slowly you will get around to the adventures ahead. Let them sink in gradually so they can be digested.
To start such discussions with a 10-year-old on the assumption that he will be delighted to move will get you off to a bad start. This assumes his feelings don't count, and that he rates no higher in the family than the dog.
However, once the initial shock is over, he is likely to pick up your attitude about the impending move.
If you are looking forward to good adventures he will near the ball park, or a tennis court? Will there be a recreation room, can he have a place to fix up a dark room so he can work on his photography, or a small shop — or whatever else he wants?
Talk over with him, Mom, what you hope for — a place with a good light to set up your easel or enough space for your sewing machine. All together make plans and watch his enthusiasm mount.

suit from coming in or must grab their tricks before the discards can take place.
West opened the three of diamonds, East put up the nine, and South won with the ace. South then led a club, forcing out East's king.
East saw that he would surely win two clubs and a spade. He needed one trick in a red suit to defeat the contract. Moreover, he had to get that trick before South could discard on dummy's long clubs.
Since there was no way to stop the establishment of the clubs East had to go after his tricks. There was a possibility that West had the king of diamonds, but if so it wouldn't run away. East's first duty was to try for a heart trick.
Free Finesse
East therefore led the nine of hearts, giving declarer a free finesse in the suit. South played low. West did his best to signal by playing the six, and dummy won with the queen.
Declarer continued the clubs, and East took the ace. East led the eight of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. West completed his signal by playing the five of hearts.
Declarer led another club from the dummy, hoping to discard his losing heart, but East ruffed with a low trump. South had to over-ruff.
Declarer next led a trump to dummy's king, and East took the ace. West discarded the deuce of diamonds on this trick, so East had no problem about which red king his partner held. Strangely enough, if West had held the king of diamonds he would have discarded it on this trick to clear up the situation.
As it was, East led a third heart, and West got a heart trick to defeat the contract.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAD gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAD moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAD's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAD acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAD relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAD won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAD today! Introductory size 43c.

Our Children Give Child Practice In Writing Letters

BY ANGELO PATRI
Letter writing is an essential accomplishment. There comes in the life of each one of us the time when a letter must be written and if one does not know how to do it — well it is too bad.

This is an art that must be acquired and the time to start is in childhood, in the early classes in the elementary school. The child who can write one sentence to Dear Mother, Dear Father, I wish you a happy birthday, does it and his training should proceed through the classes in English in high school to his graduation.

Encourage Children

This letter writing comes by long practice so both school and home should insist upon that. Home can encourage the children to write to their grandparents and the relatives, not just on the "Thank you" occasions but on the other occasions too. Uncle is recovering in the hospital, auntie has a birthday, grandmother has to be told of the A report card. This not only teaches the child to write a worthwhile letter, but helps to teach family loyalty. Also it teaches the children to keep in touch with their friends outside the family.
Children must always have a reason for writing a letter. Reminding them that it is time someone had a letter from them will bring, "What shall I write about?" Have a reason ready; the new ball team, the change in the kitchen that mother wanted, the anticipated trip, some family interest.

Carefully Supervised

School teaches the formal letter. The forms must be taught but there can be practice with the forms in actual letter writing. Children can write to pen pals in other towns and countries and they can answer advertisements and ask for information from corporations that are glad to help. All such correspondence must be carefully supervised both as to outgoing and incoming mail. The teacher in charge must read every letter as it goes and comes to make sure that no phonies, no evil thing enters.

Once started, children like writing letters. They surely love getting them in the mail. They need to be taught the right ways of letter writing so that when it is necessary they will not be at a loss.

Reading the letters of famous people can be a great help.
Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet, P-2, "Stammering," send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.
Question: What could be causing our parakeet to become ill with diarrhea?
Answer: The most frequent cause of this trouble is improper diet. If there are young children in the house, they may be the culprits. Sharing jelly-bread, sweets, fruit, etc., with the pet bird can make him sick. Budgies will even dine on such indigestibles as wood shavings and paper if available. If you suspect the cause is gastronomic, deprive the bird of all food for 12 hours. If this doesn't help, there are other simple remedies: A one-day sour buttermilk diet (fed twice a day), bread soaked with Kaolin preparation or diluted paregoric, or barley water as a substitute for fresh water. If the condition persists, you may be dealing with a more serious trouble such as worms, intestinal infection or tumors.

the procession so that it last- ed 40 minutes beyond the one hour originally planned.

People jammed onto roofs and balconies for a better look. Small boys scrambled up trees.

The atmosphere was genuinely one of a holiday celebration. People dressed informally, as Filipinos do. The men's sport shirts hung outside their trousers. The women had on simple print dresses or gaily colored blouses and skirts.

Some people in the crowd difference can ever tear with critical barbs. "We de- apart" the bonds of friend- and economic independ- ship between the two coun- tries." said one. "United States: Asia's best friend?"

He expressed U. S. deter- mination "to live with you as no open hostility of the sort true partners in defense of that may greet Eisenhower those ideals of freedom and when he travels on to Japan. human dignity in which we believe."

In a personal note, Eisen- hower also conveyed good Filipino and American secur- wishes from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who led Ameri- forces back to the Philip- pines in World war II. Eisen- hower served under MacAr- thur as staff aide in the Philippines when MacArthur was military adviser to the Philippine army before the war.

MacArthur Sees Unity

Eisenhower recalled those days and said MacArthur "asked me to convey to you his sincere conviction— strengthened through the years—that always there will be unity between the Philip- pines and the United States of America."

The two presidents, sitting side by side in a long con- vertible, then headed into the city. The route wound through tree-lined residential areas and the bustling, modern heart of Manila rebuilt from the destruction of World war II.

The crowds were packed 10 and 15 deep in some places. Humidity made it like a steam bath for many along the route, but this put no check on their high spirits.

The mass of men, women and children frequently broke through police lines and pressed within inches of the presi- dent's open car. They slowed-

Proper Papa for Miss Hong Kong May Cinch Visa

Hong Kong — Miss Hong Kong turned up with a new daddy today and appar- ently removed any obstacle to her getting a U.S. visa for the Miss Universe contest at Miami Beach next month.

Vivien Cheung, 20-year-old secretarial student crowned Miss Hong Kong last Saturday, appeared at the U.S. consulate with an identity card listing her father as Wu Pak-chuen, a Formosa businessman.

Movie fans here had be- lieved she was the daughter of Chueng Ying, star actor and executive of Hong Kong's Cheung Lien motion picture corporation which is blacklist- ed by the United States as "substantially controlled" by Chinese communist interests.

Authorities said Sunday Cheung Ying's connection with the communists might bar Miss Cheung from enter- ing the United States.

Miss Cheung declined com- ment on her paternal rela- tionships but a local film executive told newsmen Cheung Ying was Miss Hong Kong's "adopted father." This is a common Chinese rela- tionship roughly equivalent to a godfather in the west.

James C. Hagerty was asked to compare the Manila recep- tion with the some two million Indians who hailed Eisenhew- er as "the prince of peace" when he visited New Delhi.

Hagerty said it was hard to make comparisons. But he added: "It is as big a one as I have ever seen and I certainly have never seen any as en- thusiastic."

Dozens of bands blared their way along the route. Spectators lined the sidewalks, waving banners, pennants and placards. "We Love Ike" signs hung from trees and lamp posts and stood jammed on bal- conies.

He added:

"Our allies and our own people had been misled into believing there was some- point to holding a summit conference — that we were prepared to say more than what changes in the status quo we would not accept—that by a miracle of personal charm and public relations the Russians could be coaxed into yielding some of their hard- won positions of strength—that we had some conception of alternative settlements that were both acceptable to us and possibly acceptable to the Soviets."

Hits Back at Nixon

"But the truth of the matter is that we were not prepared for any such negotiations—that there was no real success which the summit could have achieved."

Kennedy struck back at Nixon's contention that Nixon among the candidates of both parties, is best qualified by experience and toughness to negotiate with Khrushchev.

"The issue is not who can best stand up to Khrushchev, who can best swap threats and insults—the real issue is who can best stand up and sum- mon America's vast resources to the defense of freedom against the most dangerous threat that it ever faced," he said.

Must Rebuild Strength

"For if the 1960 campaign should degenerate into a contest of who can talk toughest to Khrushchev—or which party is the 'party of war' or steps be taken to create at home 'an expanding econ- omy, where growth is not dis- ference who the winners are sated in inflation and con- sumer luxuries are not con- American people and the fused with national strength."

whole free world will be the losers."

Kennedy said that "neither Camp David talks nor kitchen debates" will compel Khrush- chev to enter fruitful negotia- tions. He said only a rebuild- ing of American military strength will convince the Sov- iet premier that time is not on his side and that a peaceful settlement is essential to mu- other workers.

The strike, stretching from Cape Canaveral in Florida to California's Vandenberg Air Force base, has tied up the might Atlas — the United States' only operational inter- continental missile.

An IAM spokesman said, however, that the supplement- tal offer by Convair concerns only the outside missile sites developed countries. He said vair's 27,000 employees. Voting was being conducted at Vandenberg, 165 miles north of Los Angeles; Ed- wards AFB, Calif.; Cape Ca- naverl; Offutt AFB, Neb., and Warren AFB, Wyo.

Calling for a new approach to Middle East problems, and fire Kennedy said measures must be taken to "hasten the in- evitable Arab acceptance of the permanence of Israel." He said U.S. policies must recog- nize "the inevitable triumph of nationalism in Africa."

"We must reassess a China policy which has failed dis- mally to move toward its principal objective of weakening communist rule in the main- land," he said. But he added that red China must not be recognized until there is in Peiping "a genuine change in her belligerent attitude toward her Asian neighbors and the world."

Kennedy suggested creation of an "arms control research institute" to detect and moni- tor the complex systems of modern warfare.

Finally he proposed that steps be taken to create at home "an expanding econ- omy, where growth is not dis- sated in inflation and con- sumer luxuries are not con- fused with national strength."

No GOP Gains Since Summit

Voters Retain Party Loyalties; Expect Trouble in China, Berlin

BY SAMUEL LUBELL

Despite its failure, the ill-starred summit conference seems to have given a small boost to Republican Presidential prospects.

Lubell

In Cleveland, a 38-year-old auto worker told me, "I'm a Democrat, but maybe this isn't the time to swap horses. Nixon has been in there and knows what's going on." Again, a plumber's wife in Detroit remarked, "We've been strong for Kennedy, but with a danger of war it makes you think."

The number of such shifts and waverings is not large. Of the typical voters interviewed in seven states since the U-2, only one in 12 shows any change in political feeling over the summit collapse and many of these are still undecided how they will vote in November.

But more important than the number of shifts is Premier Khrushchev's threats have thrust a new issue into the Presidential campaign—the fear of nuclear war—which clashes with the economic appeal exerted by the Democratic party.

This is the second of three articles by Samuel Lubell, top public opinion reporter, who tells the summit collapse has had little effect on how people will vote in November. He picks Berlin and the Far East as the most likely "powder kegs."

The fear of war is a stronger public concern than any of the alleged "blunders" cited by Democratic leaders in the handling of the N-2 plane incident or the summit negotiations.

Necessary to Spy

A substantial majority of the voters to whom I talked feel "Eisenhower had to admit we were spying once we got caught." Much more criticism is voiced that "we goofed" in sending a U-2 plane over Russia so close to the summit date, but most people feel the "plane should have been spying. We don't want another Pearl Harbor."

A five-to-one majority praised the "dignity" shown by Eisenhower in the face of Khrushchev's anger.

Of the voters interviewed, none was shifting to the Democrats because of the summit failure. Actually it is still too soon to measure the full political effects of the summit crisis.

In the course of my survey each person was asked, "Whom would you like to see as President if there were a threat of war?"

Many persons, after thinking for a few moments, replied, "None of them is special." Others volunteered, "Eisenhower is still the best, though he's pretty tired." But usually the voters re-plined in partisan terms, naming the candidates they had favored long before the summit crisis broke out.

Voters Uncertain

The responses made clear that the public is only beginning to appraise the Presidential rivals in terms of the world crisis. The feelings of the voters remain in flux, support does reflect a feeling several Kennedy supporters, that "the Democrats always get us into wars while the comments of a salesman's wife who confessed, "I'm really torn. I'm a Catholic, but Kennedy is too young. Nixon has the experience but I have never liked him."

An accountant in New York said, "I'm for Kennedy now, but if we're on the brink of war next November I'll go for Nixon."

Other voters liked Nixon because he'll stand up to the Russians," but some feared "he may be too hotheaded." Adlai Stevenson also touched off conflicting reactions. While some Democrats saw him as "a more mature" candidate than Kennedy, others were angered by his criticisms of the summit negotiations. A few persons praised other. They'll find some country like China to fight over."

2 Railroads Agree On Merger Proposal

A grimmer note has also crept into the public's thinking of Berlin. Although three of every four persons feel we must stay in Berlin "even if it means fighting," many balk at using nuclear weapons. Others say, "The Russians are only bluffing."

In Detroit I pressed one shoe retailer, "What if the Russians are not bluffing?" He hesitated and replied, "That's too terrible to think about."

Pills Can't do All Work in Weight Fight, Warns Doctor

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

not as safe, and require close watching.

"Dear Dr. Molner: In order to curb his weight, my son has been taking a drug off and on for over a year. Are there any bad effects from this? His doctor prescribed the drug—N.H."

Similar letters are becoming rather frequent, not only about the drug you mentioned, but other medicines. In your son's case, the drug is intended to curb the appetite, and its record, so far as safety is concerned, is pretty good.

It ought to be used—the manufacturer gives this advice, too—in conjunction with a low-calorie diet. You can't "take a pill" and expect it to do all the work of reducing!

Doctor Watchful

Since your son's doctor prescribed the drug, he will be watching for signs that it is doing any mischief. I presume, of course, that your son continues to consult him at reasonable intervals. The fact that a doctor prescribes a medication does not mean that it is going to be safe, tense, nervous individuals. Your own understanding of this, and your effort to help yourself, may be the most important factor of all. Mild sedation, tranquilizers, and the patient's own effort to avoid becoming wrought up over trifles are usually the most successful treatment. If you are a tense individual, you can't help that. But you can ask the doctor how often a checkup is advisable, and whether there are any particular signs that the patient watch for. (Sometimes there are; sometimes there aren't, the latter being true because in some cases there are signs that the doctor can recognize that the patient until after ent to the patient until after too much damage has occurred.)

In your son's case, so long as he sees his doctor at sensible intervals, there's no cause to worry.

Some Not Safe

However, there are other "reducing drugs" which are

As to my basic attitude on use of drugs to reduce—either by curbing the appetite, which is the least risky way, or using the drugs which distort the metabolism—I'm chronically against them.

Drugs are a poor excuse for weight reduction because you can't keep on using any of them indefinitely. They carry you as long as you keep using them, and that's all.

Carry a baby all the time and he never learns to walk. Let drugs carry you while you reduce, and you never learn to eat properly and to exercise properly. Both of these are necessary to keep your weight correct.

Neuro-Dermatitis

"Dear Dr. Molner: For 10 years I have suffered from what skin doctors say is neuro-dermatitis. The itching is bad. I have had all kinds of lotions, even X-ray treatments, but I still have the trouble. M.N.S."

The most important thing I know about neuro-dermatitis is that it usually appears in tense, nervous individuals. Atomic Mishap Held Unlikely

Commander of Base Thinks Bomarc Almost Foolproof

McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. — The commander of the nation's first Bomarc missile base says the chances of his weapons ever causing an atomic mishap are "very remote, indeed."

"These Bomarc are more foolproof than soap," Brig. Gen. Gilbert L. Pritchard told a news conference Wednesday night.

Pritchard, commander of the New York air defense sector, told the meeting the air force assumed responsibility for Tuesday's radiation scare and the subsequent liaison breakdown between the service and state civil defense officials.

Precautions Taken

He said the safety device in a Bomarc's nuclear warhead made the likelihood of a fire's causing an atomic explosion extremely slight. Nonetheless, he added, "special precautions," which he would not describe, were now being taken at the nation's two Bomarc anti-aircraft missile sites here and in Suffolk county, N.Y.

A needle-nosed Bomarc caught fire Tuesday at its launching site 12 miles east of here in a sparsely populated wooded area.

Pritchard said an air force sergeant phoned state police to ask them to block off roads leading into the area.

"I am sure the sergeant either implied or stated there had been a nuclear explosion," Pritchard said.

He said the sergeant, Clarence Baldwin of the air force police, "doesn't remember what he told state police."

Pritchard said the fire was ignited by an explosion somewhere within the missile, closed in its concrete launching pen. A second explosion caused an evacuation of the immediate area.

HE RE-GREW HAIR

Before Erickson Treatment A Few Months Later
Thomas A. Melton Jr. (above), shows he re-grew hair by the Erickson Home Treatment method.

Hair Specialists Here Tomorrow; Will Show How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Appleton, Wisconsin on Wednesday, June 15th, 1960 only. Other cities listed below.

Consultant L. E. Schroer will be in charge, representing the dynamic Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 12:00 to 8:00 p.m. Wednesday at the Conway Hotel. Phone: RE 4-2611.

At the home office of the Erickson organization, a new, even more successful method of treatment was announced—a treatment that you can easily administer yourself at home.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by an Erickson expert.

Who Can Be Helped?

For many years now Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Erickson home treatment.

Will the new Erickson treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss—dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Erickson home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Erickson method is that the organization has expanded to hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: "Don't wait until it's too late." Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald... unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.

Priest Says World Apathy Promotes Communist Party

U. S. Must Study Red Tactics to Preserve Our Freedom, St. Norbert Teacher Declares

The success of communism is not due to the efforts of the party members, but the apathy of the free world, a priest who lived under communist rule told Lions club Monday.

The Rev. Albin Veszelovsky, now a member of St. Norbert college faculty, was born and lived in Budapest, Hungary, coming to the United States in 1948 when his order was disbanded by the communists.

"The communist party member spends eight hours a day working for the party and gives it half his salary," the priest said. One of these Father Veszelovsky said, "To keep this country free, we must spend at least a half hour a day finding out about communism so we'll know how to fight it."

According to their timetable, the communists plan to have the world conquered by 1973 or before, he said. America is the only country standing in their way.

"The critical year is 1966," he foretold. "That's the year the Russians will have the same industrial output as the U.S."

Party Iceberg

"The party is constructed like an iceberg with a small nucleus of members above water and a large mass below. The smaller the nucleus, the easier it will be for them to control a country."

In Hungary the party succeeded not because it took over the entire government, but because it put communists in a few key positions, the priest said. One of these is the minister of the interior who controls the police force.

"It's better to change the minds of non-communists than to shoot them, party members believe," he noted. "By brainwashing and infiltration they can take over the world."

Economic Infiltration

Explaining how communists infiltrate the economies of non-communist countries, he said, "In Egypt and Iran — clientele countries — a man can buy a Czechoslovakian car for $400. The same car sells in Czechoslovakia for $1,200. The U.S. can't compete with such prices."

The Russians can sell cheaply because they don't pay living wages, he explained. Over 20 million people work in slave labor camps for half a year or a year before they drop dead from the pace.

The camps are a means of liquidating those who resist communism but are not so dangerous they have to be shot.

"The workers are disappointed with communism," he said, "because they've never had such long hours or low wages. Under the 5-year plans laborers are forced to work 48, 60, or 72 hours a week."

Quotas Change Constantly "They're paid more for overtime after the first two hours of extra work, but within a few weeks the production quotas are upgraded, the overtime is cut out and they're told the new quotas are the regular ones they must meet."

If a worker breaks down under the pressure of his job he's sent to a "work resort" or sanitarium for three weeks of strict medical care to build him up again for the coming 11 months of the year.

The communist double talk is reflected in the literature of the regime, Father Veszelovsky pointed out. The works of Marx, Engels, Lenin, and Stalin have been rewritten for the free world leaving out the portions dealing with blood, tyranny and destruction.

Motorist Turns Boat Pilot at Open Bridge

Fremont — With the help of a waiting motorist and several bystanders, a houseboat wedged against the Fremont bridge at about 6 p.m. Saturday was righted and sent back into the stream.

Clayton Looker, Fremont, was waiting in his car at the bridge as the houseboat was trying to pass under the bridge. The boat, operated by a party of three persons unfamiliar with navigation, approached the bridge at a slant, struck the structure and was wedged to a standstill.

The boat received only minor damage to the roof. When Looker saw what happened, he climbed down onto the boat, stopped its motor and turned it to reverse position. With an assist from a group of bystanders, the boat was loosened by pushing it down into the water as Looker restarted the motor. He backed the craft away from the bridge and also piloted it through the bridge before returning to his car.

The boat, about 10 feet wide and eight feet high, belongs to a fleet of house boats available for rent in the area.

Jury Rules for Kaukauna Man in 'Pet Deer' Case

A 6-member municipal court jury Monday found Gordon Kerrigan, 38, route 2, Kaukauna, innocent of violating Wisconsin game regulations by raising a buck deer without first purchasing a game farm license.

Kerrigan's attorney argued that since the rural Kaukauna man tamed the animal, ownership of it reverted to him. He cited a law which, he said, supported his argument.

Not There The state contended the deer was not actually tame in the true sense of the word.

Conservation War d e n Charles Wranosky testified he had received a complaint Jan. 2, 1960, that Kerrigan had the deer. He went to the Kerrigan farm, he said, where he found the animal tied up in a barn. He called for help from a state patrolman. Together they tied up the deer, and transferred it to a farm near Wranosky's home. A day later the deer was taken to the state game farm at Poynette.

Very Tame

It was not determined in court Monday whether or not the deer would be returned to Kerrigan, although his attorney asked for its return.

The matter is under advisement and, presumably, a ruling will be handed down at a later date.

Kerrigan testified he had found the deer when it was a small fawn. He and his family raised it. He declared the deer was very tame—that his children would feed it and, sometimes, even crawl on its back.

The jury deliberated less than an hour before reaching its verdict.

Neenah School Board Approves Building Study

UW Team, Lay Committee To Analyze Future Needs

Neenah — A study of Neenah school building facilities and future needs by the University of Wisconsin's cooperative educational research service was authorized by the board of education Monday night. The maximum cost for the survey was set at $2,750.

The study will be made in conjunction with a citizen's day committee to be named by the board of education later this summer.

Purpose of the study is to bring up to date and expand the information gathered by the school administration and previous lay committees. It would verify information already gathered and advise the board on future steps.

Frank Hochholzer wondered if this study could advise the board on the practicability of having morning and afternoon shifts of classes, an 11-month school year or a 6-day a week school program. He said he would like to know the pros and cons and merits of such programs. "We will need more and more information when it comes to building a new school as money is getting tighter."

Mrs. Marian Tollette thought analysis of that type would run the cost up considerably. Paul Groth, school board president, outlined the objective of this study would be for a long range projection of the school building needs at all levels taking in the present capacities, future needs, school locations and enrollment and curriculum studies in relation to the shifting pattern of pupil resident.

A description of the educational program will be drawn up which will include curriculum changes being contemplated. The density and distribution of school age pupils will be plotted and enrollments projected to 1975.

J. Leslie Sensenbrenner Home

To be Included on AAUW Tour

Neenah — A profusion of on old tea-chest paper. The art objects ranging from family heirlooms to an extensive collection of ceramic cats from exquisite figurines to simple sea shells found by their grandchildren and brought home to the J. Leslie Sensenbrenners will be seen by visitors on the "Homes Beautiful" tour June 24 and 25.

The home, located at 256 N. Park avenue, is arranged so a view of the river and a lagoon which it forms on the Sensenbrenner property can be seen from every part of the house. Formerly a summer home belonging to George S. Gaylord, the home was bought and remodeled by the Sensenbrenners in 1939. The late Thomas Van Aylas of Milwaukee was the architect, who designed it in the English country tradition.

A marble floored entrance leads to the large living room which is furnished with pieces of both English and French design. A large oak refectory type table of the Jacobean period holds family portraits and a large family Bible.

The fireplace, with its carved floral panels, is English Georgian. On the mantel is a handsome pair of candelabra, combining brass and porcelain in a 19th century French manner. Here, too, stands a beautiful Mexican carving of St. Augustin.

Family Treasure
Shelves on either side of the fireplace hold many family treasures — interesting pieces of Wedgwood, ironstone, jasper, cloisonne and tian glass, an ornate French clock and a pair of sparkling lustres with a slight amethyst cast.

A magnificent large Kashan Oriental rug covers the black walnut parquet flooring and damask draperies frame the windows.

Tea - Chest Paper

School Board Rejects Bids For Fuel Oil

windows and doors at Kimberly Junior High school on a bid of $1,590. This was $8 less than the only other bid received, that of William Gamme.

Board members wanted more information about the motor coach type of school bus before awarding the bid for a new bus. The motor coach bus would be $9,895 as against $7,520 for the conventional type of bus.

Advantages Arguments cited by school officials favoring the motor coach were it would provide a better ride, was more maneuverable, had an extra heater, dual brakes and more storage space. The motor coach type would have about a 10-year life while the conventional type would have about a 7-year life, it was stated.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes said the teams would be charged 20 cents a mile for bus transportation next year as against 45 cents a mile if the school were to hire a private firm to supply the bus transportation.

The Mil-Wis Construction company of Milwaukee was given the contract for the tennis courts at a cost of $2,000. Board members decided to not have a colored surface for the courts.

Birling Dairy of route 1, Menasha, was given the contract to supply milk since its offer of a 5 per cent discount brought its price down below the other bidders. The cost was 5 cents for a half pint of white milk, 5.5 cents for a half pint of chocolate milk and 37 cents for a half gallon of white milk. The other bidders were Fairmont Foods, Marten's dairy, Meadowview Dairy and Galloway company.

Winnebago County Bankers gave scholarships to 4-H members to attend the state 4-H club week at Madison this week. Receiving the scholarships were, front row, left to right, Ruth Pride, Oshkosh, Leanne Hunt, Oshkosh, E. J. space utilization study will be made of all buildings now in operation.

Evaluations of the educational utility of the present schools will be made and the financial impact of the needs will be calculated as part of the study. The study is to begin this fall and to be concluded during the 1960-61 school year.

It was pointed out that the $2,750 cost would be the maximum and that the school district will be billed only for those services it actually receives. The cost is on a fee basis.

Gym Acoustics

School board members reviewed the acoustical situation in the new high school gymnasium and declared they were highly satisfied with the results. The problem at the commencement program was not one of acoustics but one of regulation of the public address system, it was cited.

Two microphones were not turned on at the start and the volume was not turned up sufficiently for the size of the crowd.

The board voted to send a letter of appreciation to the Frank C. Shattuck, M. F. Siwert and Associates architectural firm for its counsel and help on the acoustics matter.

Groth also reported on the meeting held with the council and vocational school board last week on the future use of the Kimberly Junior High school. This building will serve as a safety valve for the entire system. Administrative personnel now in other schools will be brought in to this building when there is a need for the rooms they now occupy. Committee Suggests Study of License Fees

Aldermen Indicate Added Revenue May Be Available Through These Sources

Kaukauna — Members of the health and recreation committee of the common council voted Monday night to begin a review of all city license and permit fees with an eye toward increasing city revenue from these sources.

Members felt the fees had not been reviewed in many years and they were missing an added source of revenue by not keeping pace with surrounding communities. Members will check other villages and cities to ascertain fees, review those in Kaukauna and recommend to the proper committee any adjustments.

The health and recreation committee has charge of all licenses. The group authorized the deputy health officer to get information on various mosquito control programs and report back to the committee with recommendations.

Car For Nurse

A letter was read from Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon recommending the purchase of a new car for the city nurse. In the letter the mayor indicated the present car was nine years old and was due for considerable work to keep in proper running condition. He advocated a trade while the present vehicle still had some resale value.

Aldermen approved his suggestion and voted to recommend the advertising for bids to the purchasing committee. Also recommended for purchase were sandboxes and a set of swings for use in newly opened city play areas.

The committee voted to install a merry-go-round and a set of kiddie swings at Fashbender park, despite the objection of Fred Reichel, fifth ward alderman. Reichel felt the location of the park, adjacent to Highway 55, was too dangerous and installation of this equipment would attract youngsters, many forced to cross the busy highway.

Eventually a fence will have to be provided around the site, for the safety of youngsters, and this would ruin the scenic spot, maintain the school in Wisconsin Rapids.

Clerk's Office Closed Thursday and Friday

Little Chute — The village clerk-treasurer's office will be closed Thursday and Friday this week as Mrs. Loretta Versteegen, clerk, will be attending the clerk-finance officer's school in Wisconsin Rapids. The school is an annual affair, sponsored by the League of Municipalities.

"Corn had 7% less moisture where ammonia was applied"

SYLVESTER WEILER, FARM MGR., PABST FARMS, OCONOMOWOC, WIS., reports good results with Phillips 66 Ammonia

"Even with blight problems in our corn last year, we realized extra benefits from Phillips 66 Ammonia. From 65 to 100 pounds of Ammonia was side dressed on most corn land. Corn matured faster and had at least 7% less moisture where ammonia was applied. Yields averaged 80 to 90 bushels per acre on about 400 acres. All corn is dried with an LP-gas fired crop dryer. Part of the corn is fed to the Pabst registered Holstein herd," Mr. Weiler says.

Two panel discussions are planned to follow afternoon general sessions. One panel will cover "The World — My Place in It," the other, "Building a Future."

Principles of Living, Learning Explained at State 4-H Meeting

University President, Newspaper Woman Tell How to Capitalize on Opportunity

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Madison — The meaning of learning and living was explained Monday to delegates attending the annual state 4-H club week.

University of Wisconsin President Dr. Conrad Elvehjem discussed some misconceptions on learning and how learning affects an individual.

Miss Helen Matheson, assistant managing editor, Wisconsin State Journal, told the 4-H members they are part of the waiting generation.

Because I'm a new president, "maybe I was called here today because the university's 4-H association thinks I have a lot to learn about it," Dr. Elvehjem said.

Can be Fun "Learning is associated almost exclusively with school. It is as though minds were opened with the bell in the morning and closed with the bell at night," he declared.

"Learning is pictured as hard and unpleasant," he said, but it can be challenging and fun if it is interesting. Learning the reason why makes the difference.

Learning is thought of as being done only under a teacher, but the best learning really is self-motivated, he contended.

Learn Virtues Virtues come from self-motivated learning, the doctor said, and are the most difficult to learn. They help tell a person how to conduct himself in a world of conflicting influences.

"Overconfidence is a major road block to learning," he said. "Instead the more we know the more we should realize how little we know."

Dr. Elvehjem divided learning into two types, skills and principles.

Identity of self must be retained at all costs in this world of change and activity," he said. "The world of change is a world of opportunity depending upon your attitude toward it."

Sharp Tool "Remember," he added, "arm yourself with knowledge for it is both your sharpest tool and greatest comfort."

Miss Matheson had a note of urgency in her voice as she discussed how the youth of today should live.

Anyone can forget to learn and decide not to serve, she said. Living is different. One has to live.

The youth of today is a waiting generation, "playing it cool and waiting in the back-ground for things to happen."

Terrible Times "I once called this a generation in deadlock because it says it has no heroes, no idols or myths," she said. "Youth of today knows what it is against but not what it is for."

These are called terrible times, she said, but there have been terrible times throughout history. The degree of terror depends upon whether facing a saber tooth tiger with a primitive weapon is worse than facing a nuclear warhead, she noted.

"These are also wonderful, exhilarating times to live in," Miss Matheson went on. "There is more travel, more chance to see things and more wonderful opportunities.

She told the club members she thought Nikita Khrushchev was more dangerous than Germany's Adolf Hitler because Khrushchev has powerful ideas plus group force. Hitler had only group force, she said.

"Life is not a spectator sport. If we're going to live, we've got to get on the bandwagon, become flag wavers," she explained.

Board Waives Tuition For Exchange Student

The Appleton board of education voted last night to waive tuition charges for the American Field service exchange student coming to Appleton High school in the fall. The student is Juan Carlos Scipioni, San Jose, Mendoza, Argentina.

vote and answer the questions of why," she asserted.

This generation "can play it cool if it studies all sides of a situation before coming to a decision. You must accept the responsibility of arriving at a decision in a democracy," she explained.

County Judge to Attend Pair of Legal Meetings

Two convention dates are on the agenda of County Judge Stanley Staidl this month and next.

Judge Staidl will attend the 23rd annual conference of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges at Detroit starting Monday. The 5-day program concludes Friday.

The 1960 summer conference of the Wisconsin Boards of County and Juvenile Court and Judges will be held July 6, 7, Judge Herbert J. Steffes.

and 8 at the Eagle Waters resort, Eagle River.

Judge Staidl is secretary-treasurer of the county court judges organization.

Guest speaker at a banquet Thursday, July 7, will be Miss Mae E. Roach, former professor of the Wisconsin State college at Stevens point.

Other speakers include Capt. Michael S. Wolke, of the Milwaukee police department; Wilbur J. Schmidt, director of the state department of public welfare; Clarence of the Wisconsin Boards of County and Juvenile Court and Milwaukee Municipal Judges will be held July 6, 7, Judge Herbert J. Steffes.

Braves Beat Giants, Send Buhl Against Cubs Tonight

Logan's Five RBIs Pace 12-5 Win

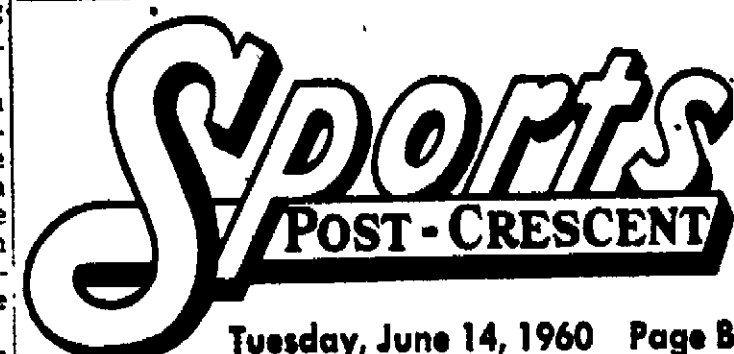

San Francisco — (AP) — Veterans Johnny Logan and Lew Burdette formed a winning combination for the Milwaukee Braves Monday.

Logan, who has been in a batting slump recently, snapped out of it to drive in five runs with a double and a triple while Burdette came back after a poor start to gain his sixth victory as the Milwaukee Braves whipped the San Francisco Giants, 12-5.

The victory enabled the Braves to gain ground in the National league race and now trail the leading Pittsburgh Pirates by 3 1/2 games and the second place Giants by 2 1/2.

Nearly Floored Today, the Braves are at home where they will try to improve their standings in a 15-game stand. They open at Milwaukee against the Chicago Cubs tonight with Bob

Turley Wins Fourth in Row; Orioles Face Tribe Tonight

Yankees Only One Game From AL Lead

By The Associated Press Baltimore and Cleveland get going on a 4-game argument over the American league lead tonight, but the New York Yankees, frolicking along at Kansas City, could have the last word.

The Orioles are a half-game behind the Indians as Turley they open the 3-day series at Cleveland. But the third-place Yankees are just one game shy of the top after winning their sixth in a row with an 8-4 decision over the As Monday night in the only AL game scheduled.

It's Jim Perry (6-2), a right-hander shooting for his sixth straight success, for the Indians, and either Milt Pappas (3-5) or Billy Hoelt, the lefty just recalled from the minors, for the Birds.

Back in Lead Cleveland took over first place by winning five in a row, then slipped to second by losing the first two games of a scheduled 4-game set in New York last weekend. The Indians climbed back on top Sunday when their doubleheader with the Yankees was rained out and the Orioles lost two to Kansas City.

While the Birds and Indians play four, including a twilight pair scheduled for Wednesday, the Yankees have three more with KC.

The Yankees made it seven straight over Kansas City, five this season, behind right-hander Bob Turley and slugging "Moose" Skowron Monday night.

Turley, now 4-1 with his fourth straight victory, had a 1-hitter and had a c a d the minimum 21 men until the A's broke through for all their runs in the eighth. The Yankees had finished their scoring against loser Ken Johnson (2-4) and Bob Giggie by then. Skowron drove in four with a home run, single and sacrifice fly.

Kubek Homers The Yankees, tying Detroit for the longest streak of the season in the AL, scored three in first inning triggered by Tony Kubek's leadoff home run. Skowron homered in the third and then capped a 3-run fourth by driving in two with his single. The Moose closed it out with the long fly in the sixth.

Turley had a perfect game until "Whitey" Herzog singled with one out in the fifth. Harry Chitt then hit into a double play. A double play also followed Bob Johnson's leadoff walk in the sixth.

Then came the eighth. Norm Siebern opened with a double and Chitt, Johnson and Ken Hamline followed with one-out singles. A walk forced in one run and Bill Tuttle singled for the other two.

Turley finished with a 6-hitter, striking out seven and walking just two for his second straight complete game.

Dallas Cowboys are Going All Out in Effort to 'Sell' NFL

Fans Adopt Wait-and-See Attitude Over 2 Pro Clubs

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service Green Bay — The Dallas story?

Tom Miller of the Packers is just back from a conference of National Football league publicity directors in Dallas.

They met with NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and his aide, Joe Labrum — not to mention the folks from the newly-created Dallas Cowboys, to get the picture on Dallas and settle and discuss various publicity problems.

The Cowboys are going right to the high schools in an effort to sell the National Football league as a much better "brand" than the Dallas Texans of the new American Football league.

Name Talent Scouts Hundreds of Texas football coaches have been named talent scouts for the Cowboys.

This serves two purposes — (1) the coaches will be taking an active part in uncovering promising college players and (2) they will be selling Cowboy-NFL football.

Actually, the biggest selling point the Cowboys have in Texas, Miller said, is the National league itself. Dallas will get a look at six NFL clubs in league competition — plus others in non-league games. Playing league games in Dallas will be Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Baltimore, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Dallas fans generally have adopted a wait-and-see attitude on the two pro clubs, and neither club is rushed for season tickets.

The Hunts (owners of the AFL team) are well liked in Texas, and Dallas, in particular, the Cowboys, on the other hand, have a flock of stars — 36 proven pro football veterans, in fact. In addition, they have the finest passer to come out of Texas since Sammy Baugh in Don Meredith, the SMU great.

Play It Straight Press, radio and television people have played the two pro clubs "straight" . . . they aren't leaning to either team, also using the wait and see theory.

The Cowboys will play their home games in the Cotton bowl, which is smack in the middle of the state fairgrounds . . . which reminds of the Packers' visit there in 1952 when the Texans were in the league for a year. The state fair was on that Saturday night and there were 13,000 people in the stands and 10,000 milling around on the huge grounds.

Pro football, however, has advanced considerably since, and Miller feels that the Cowboys are "here to stay."

One of the Cowboys' new coaches is Tom Dahms, former Packer tackle. Handling personnel for the club is Gil Brandt, a Milwaukeean who did some talent scouting for the Packers.

A high school stadium in Dallas has been named Herschel Forester stadium in memory of the late father of the Packers' defensive captain, Bill Forester. Mr. Forester coached high school football in Dallas for a number of years and was revered in Dallas and throughout Texas.

Ortiz Rates As Favorite In Title Bout

San Francisco — (AP) — New Yorker Carlos Ortiz rates as the favorite at about 9-5 over Italian Dullio Loi for Wednesday night's junior welterweight title fight in the Cow Palace. He wants the victory as a stepping stone to a lightweight title fight in the Cow Palace.

Despite Loi's impressive record and his European welterweight championship, most observers have been more impressed with the little Puerto Rican in his workout here.

In 110 bouts, Loi has lost only once and hasn't been defeated in the past seven years. At 31, he finally is getting a shot at a world championship after being a high ranking lightweight contender several times.

Ortiz, 24, has lost only two of 33 fights. He reversed each loss in rematches.

Logan triggered his assault in the second when he got a double that scored two runs. Two more came home on a Giant error.

Eddie Mathews got a hit in the third inning. Henry Aaron walked and Adcock beat out a bunt. Covington and Crandall went out but Logan came through again with a triple to left center that scored runs.

Triples by Billy Bruton and Mathews, plus five singles caused the ninth inning damage.

A crowd of 17,772 saw the finale of a series that was split two apiece. The attendance at the four games here was 131,066.

Thursday opening round. "A 66—and a 66 eased up, too. He's playing beautifully. His shots were just wonderful."

"I'll tell you this, too," Rosburg went on. "Either they (the U. S. Golf Assn.) harden these greens or you're going to see scores that are unbelievable. And Palmer's likely to be the most unbelievable of them all."

Threaten Record
Unbelievable enough to threaten the Open record of 276 Ben Hogan set at Riviera in Los Angeles in 1948.

"Definitely, if the course stays like it is now," said Rosburg, who called his 72 a "bad round."

"The greens are just wonderful—soft and almost too good. And the rough isn't tough like you find on most Open sites. It's thin and penalizes you hardly at all."

The course is the 7,004-yard, par 35-36-71 Cherry Hills Country club, nestled in a meadow with the Rocky Mountains as a backdrop.

While the yardage is the fifth longest in the 60 years of the National Open, the rarified air at Denver's mile-high altitude increases the average flight of a golf ball from 15 to 20 yards.

"If it stays this way, the record is in jeopardy," said Palmer, who had a pair of 71s here earlier last week before hopping over to finish third, worth $2,000, in the Oklahoma City Open ending Sunday.

"I'm playing now as well as when I won the Masters," said Arnie, while opponents' hearts fell.

Amateur Replaced
Nearly all the field of 150 was on hand today. There was one substitution in the line-up, Jack Ellis of Stillwater, Okla., replacing former amateur king Charlie Coe, who withdrew because of business commitments in Oklahoma City.

Hogan, here since last Friday in his renewed bid for an unprecedented fifth championship, had a part 71 Monday after bogeying three of the first four holes.

The latest odds listed Hogan and Ken Venturi, who had a 68 in Palmer's foursome, at 6-1 behind Palmer at 4-1, and defending champion Billy Casper and Sam Snead at 5-1. Dow Finsterwald was 8-1 after a 68 despite a heavy head cold.

Herb Hurls Five Shutout Innings Before 28,400

Chicago—The Chicago White Sox knocked off the Chicago Cubs, 7-0, Monday night in their exhibition for boys baseball in a game which drew a crowd of 28,400 and was called in the sixth inning because of rain.

Actually, the rain started more than an hour before the game and a fine mist fell throughout the encounter, but the players persevered and boys baseball in Chicago benefited by some $59,000.

The most significant factor in the contest was the work of Herb Score, the questionable White Sox southpaw.

Score pitched the first five innings in which he yielded four hits, three walks and struck out six.

Despite Score's fine showing, Manager Al Lopez said he has no immediate plans of using Score.

Elmer Selig paced weekend golfing at the Ridgeway Country club with a 73. Ed Verbrick shot a 77.

Gopher Pitch Memory Lingers With Burdette After Sixth Win

San Francisco — The gopher pitched to Orlando Cepeda lingered with Braves memory of a first-inning 3-run Lew Burdette long after the tumult and shouting of his 12-5 decision over the San Francisco Giants Monday.

"I hollered 'no' as soon as the pitch to Cepeda left my hand," Burdette recalled. "I knew it wasn't where I wanted it."

But it was where Orlando liked it, and he banged it over the right field fence for his eleventh homer.

Burdette gave up four hits in that rough first inning. But after that the Milwaukee right-hander held the Giants to a fourth inning homer by Eddie Bressoud, his fifth, and eighth inning bloop double by Willie Kirkland and two ninth inning singles.

"If another fella had socked one you'd have seen another pitcher," Braves manager Charlie Dressen said. "But Lew got out of the inning and wound up with his sixth victory against two losses."

Bill Rigney, San Francisco manager, said the Giants have been "playing good one day and lousy the next." But with 100 games left on the schedule they are in a perfect position in the pennant race, Rigney believes.

"We're only a game out of first," he said, "and we couldn't ask for a better position... unless we had a 5-game lead."

Navarino took over sole possession of first place in the Dairyland Baseball league with a thrilling 4-3 victory over Bonduel at the winners' field Sunday.

It was the second straight league loss for defending champion Bonduel.

Other contests saw Nichols turn back Landstad, 11-6 and Hofa Park topped Black Creek, 8-4.

Harvey Pies proved the difference for Navarino as he smacked a pair of homers in the victory. Pies' first clout came in the first inning with a mate aboard. His second was in the third frame and followed a circuit blast by Jack Herb that accounted for the final two runs.

Richter Homers
Bonduel scored single tallies in the first, fifth and seventh but could not get a rally started. Elmer Richard had a homer for the losers in the first.

Jerry Herb was the winning pitcher. He held Bonduel to just four hits and fanned six. Bob Hanson of Bonduel had 15 strikeouts but was tagged for nine hits and the loss.

Hofa Park jumped off to a 5-0 lead after two innings and was never headed by Black Creek.

Bob Roloff had a 3-run homer for the losers in the sixth inning.

Nichols had a 10-1 lead after five innings and cruised to a win behind Keith Krull's hurling. Ken Plamann hit a 2-run homer for the winners in the fourth inning.

Athletic Fans Uneasy About Daley With Yankees in Town

Kansas City —(AP)— Kansas City Athletic fans are getting uneasy about their nifty little lefthander, Bud Daley.

With eight victories, he's currently the American league's leading pitcher. And well they might begin to squirm. The New York Yankees are in town. Here's the picture:

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is holding court with with newsmen in the dug-out. His topic — Yankee outfielder Hector Lopez.

"He's going great. Boston wants him. Cleveland wants him. Chicago wants him. I don't know where they're gonna play him, but they all want him. Till he starts hitting, nobody wants him. Now they're all asking."

An upstart asks: "Who do you want for him, Casey?"

Stengel bristles. "I didn't say I wanted for him. I'm just a-telling you they all want him."

The signs are unmistakable. If they make the right kind of a deal, someone is going to get Hector Lopez, who can fumble equally well with either hand but who also can drive in the runs.

So the cynics are wondering: "What will Daley's number be on a Yankee uniform?"

Area Golf Highlights

George Lange, Sr., Cards First Hole-in-1 of BDM Season

George C. Lange, Sr., 414 W. Winnebago street, scored a hole-in-1 on Butte des Morts No. 17 Saturday to highlight weekend golf activity in the Fox Cities.

Lange, who has played the course for 33 years, listed it as his first ace. It also is the first one of the season at the club.

Lange used a No. 7 iron to drop the tee shot on the 118-yard hole. He was playing with Dr. George Forkin of Menasha and William Conrad, Appleton.

The PGA's national golf day was observed Saturday at BDM. Members tried to top the winner of the Billy Casper-Bob Rosburg match that was played at the Firestone Country club, Akron, Ohio.

Twenty-eight members entered the meet, but all failed to better Casper's low score of 67. Closest was Harvey Lhost with a 72 net total.

The qualifying round for junior golfers to enter the first of three meets in the North-eastern Wisconsin Junior golf tournament will be held Thursday morning at Butte des Morts. Four boys and four girls will be selected on the teams that will play at Fond-du-Lac South Hills course Friday.

Lions Sign 2 Veterans to 2-Year Pacts

Club 'Protects' McCord, Junker From New League

Detroit —(AP)— Veterans Daris McCord and Steve Junker have signed 2-year contracts with the Detroit Lions for the 1960 and 1961 National Football league seasons.

The Lions now have 36 players under contract for next season. Several veterans have signed 2-year pacts with President-General Manager Edwin J. Anderson in a turn-about of Lion policy of recent years when 1-year contracts were standard.

The Lions started giving 2-year contracts after last season when Tobin Rote played out an option on his 1959 pact and then became a free agent, a privilege under NFL law.

With the new American Football league ready to start next season, the Lions now feel it safer to protect their stars by granting contracts covering two seasons.

McCord, a standout defensive tackle, will be playing his sixth campaign with the Lions in 1960. Junker, an offensive end, has been injury-riddled since his fine rookie year of 1957 when the Lions won the world championship. A knee ailment sidelined him the entire 1958 season and half of last season.

Baseball Draft Bill in Senate

Judiciary Committee Fails to Make Recommendation

Washington —(AP)— The baseball bill, which would liberalize the drafting of players from team to team, was in the lap of the senate today. There was no indication how soon it might act.

The bill would provide that each major league club without any recommendation could own or control only 40 for or against its passage.

players exempt from draft by rival teams. There is one exception: A player would not be subject to draft until he had completed four years in organized baseball.

Just what effect the bill would have on the proposed Continental league drafting players from the National and American leagues remains to be seen.

The bill does not spell out whether a new league can simply declare itself in the majors and thus draft players from team to team, as in the case of the two older leagues.

The senate judiciary committee Monday voted to re-assert the bill to the senate.

Now I don't know if I'll ever run again."

Can't Run for Year

Olympic Hope Bowden Suffers Torn Tendon

Quantico, Va. —(AP)— Don Bowden, America's first sub-4-minute miler, looked down at his cast-encased left leg today and smiled wryly:

"What a time for this to happen. I really thought I had a good chance of winning the 800 meters in the Olympics in Rome. Now I don't know if I'll ever run again."

The slim, 23-year-old University of California graduate suffered a torn achilles tendon in the 800-meter run in the Armed Forces Track championships here last Friday.

Operation a Success
He underwent an operation Monday to repair the injured tendon and physicians pronounced it a success.

"They tell me that when it's all healed, the tendon will be stronger than ever, that they grafted some extra muscle," Bowden, an army lieutenant, said. "But I'll be on crutches for a couple of months and won't be able to work out for perhaps a year."

Bowden, who got the United States into the 4-minute-mile club when he was caught in 3:58.7 three years ago, actually is the second fastest half-miler in history. His 1:47.2 is surpassed only by Tom Courtney's world record 1:46.8. Courtney won the 800 meters in the last Olympics in 1:47.7.

Mr. Glenn Arthur, Advertising Director
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

I thought you might be interested in hearing about the results produced by the full page color ad we ran in the classified section of the Appleton Post-Crescent the latter part of April. This was our first experience with color advertising and we were tremendously impressed with the results.

The tri-level Silvercrest Model home which we advertised was sold to one of the first families that visited the home. In spite of heavy rain, over 2,000 people inspected the home that week-end. Several variations of the model home were sold, to be erected in Combined Locks. We were especially pleased to sell a Silvercrest home to a couple from Oshkosh, to be constructed in that city, and another to a family from Janesville, to be built in New London. These sales results prove to us that the Post-Crescent is 'tops' in producing results from all areas.

Two years ago this month our first model home was shown in Van Daelewyk Subdivision, Combined Locks. This 56-lot subdivision has been almost completely sold out, and 18 new homes have already been built in the new Park Ridge Subdivision adjoining the original plat. It is estimated that 283 new residents are already living in these two subdivisions, and we are proud that our firm erected over 83% of the homes in these plats. The big majority of our prospects and buyers were reached through consistent use of Post-Crescent classified advertising.

Over the period of the next six years we will be busy in the development of a new area near Hortonville which will eventually provide more than 500 fine new residential building lots. You may be certain that, as in all of our promotions in this area, the Appleton Post-Crescent will continue to be our chief advertising medium.

Thanks a million to your entire staff for past service, and especially to Bill Lesser, who handles our account for you, for his very able assistance.

Sincerely,
DON RADTKE, President

Chicago Driver Strikes Deer in Town of Grand Chute

Two persons were injured and a deer was killed in three accidents investigated by county police over the weekend.

Robert Felts, 35, route 1, Bowler, received bumps and bruises when his car was struck by a hit-run driver after Felts had stopped on Highway 45 about 2 miles south of New London to aid a driver whose car was stuck.

Marvin Heindl, 17, of route 2, Kaukauna, received bumps and bruises about 5:30 p. m. Sunday on County Trunk E, one mile west of Freedom,

Lists Reasons for High Joblessness

BY SYLVIA PORTER

After a business advance lasting more than two years and pushing our nation's out-put above a half-trillion dollars a year, 5 per cent of all Americans are still jobless. This 5 per cent is not just a statistic on an economist's chart.

It is people, and not one authority even pretends that this percentage of unemployed men and women isn't stickily big at this late stage in the business rise. It is politics, and not one responsible politician in either party even pretends that the percentage of unemployed won't be a hotly debated issue in the approaching election.

Why, then, with economic activity at an all-time peak, unemployment is continuing at this level, and in 91 areas throughout our country—including such world-famous cities as Detroit and Providence—is joblessness officially tagged as "substantial," "chronic" and a "persistent problem?"

Understand Why It is imperative to understand the "why" before we can figure out what to do about it.

1. Unemployment is this high because our machines and men at work are more efficient than ever before, are capable of turning out more goods in a shorter time than ever before.

Productivity—output per man per hour—has been increasing steadily, and recently at an accelerating rate. Automation in our factories is paying off. Modernization of our facilities is paying off. The informed estimate is that productivity this year is up 3 to 4 per cent over 1959 and some experts believe the percentage is bigger.

New Workers Enter
2. Every year hundreds of thousands of new workers enter our labor force to hunt for jobs.

In the past decade the average increase in our labor force ran about 857,000 a year. In this decade, the expert estimate is that the labor force will be swelling at 1 to 2 per cent a year.

3. Our nation is just not growing fast enough to create sufficient new jobs to offset jobs lost forever through increased production efficiency and to absorb the expanding volume of workers. Obviously, a national growth rate of at least 4 per cent, and more probably 5 per cent, is essential to offset a rise in productivity of 3-4 per cent and an expansion of workers of 1-2 per cent a year. There can be many arguments about precisely how fast we are growing, but we certainly aren't hitting the 4-5 per cent rate now.

What, then, can be done about mounting joblessness? "Cut the work week; spread the number of jobs" is a superficial answer. We'll cut the work week, but not sufficiently to erase the problem of joblessness.

The only fundamental answer lies in a speedup in our rate of growth—and here we cannot expect that we'll be able to achieve this simply by turning out more houses, more cars, more TV, etc. Those answers were adequate for 1950, but they aren't for 1960.

In the 1960s we must look for the speedup through the invention of new products, new industries which will electrify demand. We must look for growth in the building of better and more highways, schools, hospitals, waterways, sewers, the like. We must look for it in the rehabilitation of our cities; in meeting the skyrocketing needs of our expanding teenage and over-65 population. Once we understand clearly why joblessness is a long-term problem, the debate on how to spur growth in many of these areas can be placed on a level which will produce the right answers. Just un-

500 Pounds Dynamite To be Set Off in Air

Washington—(U)—Five hundred pounds of dynamite carried aloft by a huge balloon will be exploded next spring high above southern New Mexico.

The defense department will touch off the blast to study the effects of chemical explosions at high altitudes. The Pentagon said the test—part of Project Banshee—also may contribute "knowledge to cope with military problems of the space and missile age." A balloon as tall as a 20-story building will carry the dynamite cargo to 24 miles above the White Sands missile range. The charge will be touched off by a radio signal from the ground. The army, air force, navy and atomic energy commission are involved in the project.
